Queen, Philip Arrive in Canada

Royal Pair Photographed on Both Sides of the Atlantic Today

Bright sunshine, not fog as feared, bathed Newfoundland today as Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived at Torbay Airport to begin their Canadian tour. #### IMMEDIATE START

Ontario to Get Canada's First A-Power Plant

OTHER A-PLANTS FORESEEN

OTTAWA (CP)—The Maritime provinces and Manitoba may be considering the construction of large-scale atomic power stations by the late 1960s, Trade Minister Churchill said today.

He referred to future power requirements in the two areas in announcing to the Commons the early construction in Ontario of an atomic station.

Voting Heavy In Alberta

EDMONTON—Unexpectedly heavy voting was reported from urban centres today as Albertans went to the polls to elect 65 out of 216 candidates for the provincial legislature.

The campaign was quiet and there were no major issues brought out, but perfect weather prevailed and Medicine Hat returning officers said 100 voters showed up in the first half-hour.

Edmonton officials reported a "steady flow" to the polling booths there.

Polls were opened at 8 a.m. and were to close at 8 p.m. Pacific Daylight time.

In power since 1935 the Social Credit government was trying for its seventh consecutive five-year mandate.

He told the Commons that the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will pay part of the $60,000,000 cost of the station which will develop 200,000 kilowatts of electricity. It was expected the plant would be completed and in operation late in 1964 or early 1965.

Mr. Churchill said the site of the plant in Ontario is yet to be determined.

However, government sources said it likely will be located in southern Ontario, an area where hydro-electric power sources have been almost used up.

The minister said the plant, to be known by the code name Candu—Canadian deuterium uranium—will produce electricity at a price competitive with coal-fired power plants of similar size. This cost must be from five to six mills a kilowatt hour.

The station will use natural uranium as a fuel and heavy water to transmit heat from the atomic reactor to turbines hooked to electric generators. This is the approach being used in an experimental power station known as NPD—nuclear power demonstration—under construction near Rolphton, Ont., close to the site of Ontario hydro's huge

U.K. Freighter Sinks

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—The small British freighter Springdale capsized and sank in rough seas off the Swedish coast today minutes after the captain and four other officers abandoned ship.

Protest Shelved

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Commons broadcasting committee today shelved by a 12-5 vote a Liberal proposal that Ontario Premier Leslie Frost be invited to appear and "state his views and grievances against the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation."

Balding Leads

MONTREAL (CP)—Al Balding of Markham, Ont., sank a 25-foot putt on the 18th green today to finish with a six-under-par 66 and grab the lead in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship.

Bank Rate Climbs

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate this week increased for the third straight week to 5.47 per cent, the Central Bank reported today.

HERTER'S PLANE READY AS REDS STALL AGAIN

GENEVA (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter summoned his plane from the United States today in a subtle warning against new delaying tactics in the current Big Four talks by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Gromyko apparently was stalling until Premier Nikita Khrushchev can use new Berlin strategy after nearly two weeks of "little summit" talks with leaders of the Communist East German puppet regime.

For the second day running, Gromyko put off his answer to the West's three-day-old compromise plan for Berlin. He asked for and was granted another 24-hour delay in the Big Four secret meeting scheduled for today.

UNIONS, FIRMS ACCUSED

'Fix' Charged In Fish Prices

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 5,000-member United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and four British Columbia fish packing companies have been accused of price-fixing in a report of a combines investigator.

A copy of the report of T. D. MacDonald, director of investigations under the Federal Combines Act, also names the Native Brotherhood of B.C., which represents most Indian fishermen and the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association of B.C.

The report was released to the companies, Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company Ltd., B.C. Packers Ltd., the Canadian Fishing Company, and Nelson Brothers Fisheries Ltd., and the union and associations recently.

TWO MEN NAMED

It names specifically Homer S. Stevens and William Rigby, business agents of the union.

Mr. MacDonald's report, made after three years' investigation, has been forwarded to the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission which will start hearings on it here Oct. 19.

After the hearings the commission will recommend to the minister of justice whether charges should be laid under the Combines Act.

A Vancouver newspaper today quoted a statement from the minister of justice's office that the "case is far from finished."

"There are many steps to be dealt with yet. The director of investigation may be wrong."

Mr. MacDonald's report says the four companies and the unions and associations acted against the public interest in price fixing activities.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank Thee, our Father, that Jesus Christ, by rising from the tomb, has conquered death and has brought life and immortality to light. He is the Lord of life and death, and in Him we lose all fear of what lies before us, whether it be life or death. Help us to live confidently, one day at a time, inspired by His living presence with us. May we know in full measure the joy of service; and may our state be one of contentment, no matter what the condition may be in which we live; through Jesus Christ, Amen.

Fog Clears For Landing

Massey, Diefenbaker Greet Royal Couple

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The plane carrying the Queen and Prince Philip to Canada landed at Torbay Airport here at 2.50 p.m. ADT (10.50 a.m. PDT), just five hours and 45 minutes after leaving London.

A bright warm sun shone on the city as the royal plane arrived over the airport. But from the airport tower wreathes of fog could be seen hanging menacingly over the rocky Newfoundland coast a few miles away.

Until a few hours earlier the fog threatened to keep the big Comet jet airliner from landing here. For a while a diversion to Argentina, 90 miles away, appeared likely.

Governor-General Massey and Prime Minister Diefenbaker were on hand to greet the royal couple. The prime minister's plane arrived while the royal aircraft was just coming over the airport. A 21-gun salute boomed out over the tarmac as the plane sped in for a smooth landing.

As the first gun was fired, the royal standard was broken out on a flag pole at the airport.

Only seconds elapsed between the time the Comet's engines were cut and the door to the royal plane was opened. A ramp was quickly rolled into position for the Queen and Prince Philip to descend.

Royal Canadian Navy Guard of Honor

A little girl ran suddenly from the crowd towards the ramp as hundreds waited for the Queen to appear. She was quickly but gently stopped.

A Royal Canadian Navy guard of honor was drawn up as the plane rolled to a stop.

The Queen, followed by Prince Philip, stepped through the door of the plane and started down the ramp at exactly 11 a.m. PDT.

She wore a jade and white print dress with pleated skirt and a topcoat of jade green wool. She had on a jade straw hat rimmed with white velvet.

The Queen was saluted by a military band playing God Save the Queen. She inspected the guard and then returned to the dais where the prime minister and governor-general excused themselves to return to Ottawa.

Before entering her car to head for St. John's, Premier Smallwood introduced members of his cabinet and their wives and other dignitaries to the Queen.

Besides the cabinet, the Queen met Speaker J. R. Courage of the Newfoundland Legislature, Opposition Leader Malcolm Hallett, heads of the armed services and their wives.

Newfoundland's representative in the federal cabinet, W. J. Browne, and his wife, were also in the welcoming party.

Philip Stops to Talk With Officials

As Prince Philip passed along the line of dignitaries, he stopped to speak briefly with several. A bouquet was presented to the Queen by a granddaughter of Premier Smallwood.

The navy guard of honor took off their hats and gave the royal couple three cheers. New cheers went up from a group of veterans as the Queen and her husband entered their car. It drove slowly past the crowd at the airport as the drive to St. John's began.

A member of the band drawn up on the tarmac faintly ed shortly before the royal couple left.

Part of the drive to the capital took the Queen along Elizabeth Avenue, a street named after her 1951 visit to Newfoundland. She met civic dignitaries there, on the city limits of St. John's. The early arrival of the Comet had the royal party moving about 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

The Queen smiled warmly as she chatted with Premier Smallwood. The premier said the Queen told him that when she saw all the fog along the coast she realized what a problem the weather created.

"She said, 'I was so happy that when we reached here the sun had broken through,'" the premier told reporters later. Newfoundlanders, residents of Canada's youngest province and the oldest settled region of North America, waited by the hundreds for the arrival. Continued on Page 3

Heavy Battle Casualties As African Natives Riot

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Massive battles between natives and police raged over a 10-square-mile area of this seaport city today. Latest reports said both sides were exchanging gunfire. Heavy casualties were reported.

At least 1,000 natives were said to be involved.

The riots started this morning when hundreds of African women smashed into a beer hall to demonstrate against municipal-brewed beer.

The demonstrations soon got out of hand in this tinder box area of racial tension between whites and blacks.

Police used tear gas and Sten guns. The natives returned the fire.

By late afternoon, the riot was so far out of hand that running battles were taking place between police and rioters among the shacks of the native slums.

The rioters were burning buses and attacking shops owned by Indians. Other Indian businessmen in various parts of the city closed their stores, barred their windows and began moving out of the danger area.

Seems that U.S. plane that got shot at off Korea didn't know its gun wasn't loaded.

100 Hurt in Tornado Havoc

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Greater Miami area's first tornado in 10 years struck Wednesday night and at least 100 persons were injured, some of them severely.

"You just don't get that kind of damage from a straight wind," forecaster Paul Moore said in identifying the vicious storm.

The storm leap-frogged over a 12-mile path, driving hundreds of persons from their homes.

An 11-year-old boy, Frank Vaselotti, was reported in critical condition with head injuries but no deaths were reported.

Hardest hit was a four-block residential and business area around the 79th Street causeway where police Sgt. Stewart Cooley estimated the loss would run at least to $1,000,000.

The storm also belted a Biscayne Boulevard area 24 blocks south of 79th Street and toppled trees and power poles in Coconut Grove, 100-blocks south of the causeway. It missed downtown Miami en route.

L. S. Pope, picked up bleeding on the causeway, said he was on the second floor of a five-family dwelling when its roof blew off. His bed was flung into the air.

Don Shoemaker, who lives in the area, said "I've been through two tornadoes and have never seen anything like this. It looked like a bomb had hit."

Mrs. Nola Cone, 40, scrambled out of wreckage of her bar with six patrons, shaken but unhurt.

"I've seen Oklahoma tornadoes but none like this," she said.

City police, sheriff's deputies, a Florida highway patrol detachment and civil defence auxiliaries shunted curiosity-seekers away from the area and guarded against looting from stores and homes where building fronts stood open.

Plans were under way to feed people chased from their homes by the storm. Emergency kitchens were to begin operating today in some areas.

"Everything we had is gone—levelled," said Dr. George Ferro. "My $40,000 house is destroyed. There's a grapefruit tree where our living room was—our pool's been ripped out of the ground."

In a single block of North Bayshore Drive, in the area of greatest destruction, more than a dozen automobiles lay overturned or crumpled. Some had been slammed against buildings.

A 15-foot boat lay upside down in the middle of the street. Neighbors said it was blown off a trailer 1 1/2 blocks away.

TORCH PARADE MARKS EAST GERMAN UPRISING

BERLIN (Reuters) — More than 50,000 West Berliners flocked to a torchlit demonstration in front of their city hall Wednesday night to mark the sixth anniversary of an anti-Communist uprising in Communist East Germany.

The revolt on June 16, 1953, was crushed by Russian troops and tanks.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt told the crowd: "The West and many millions in all parts of the world have shown that they will not leave us alone."

LONDON (Reuters)—One of the two women jurors in the Liberate libel case gave away the verdict three minutes before it was announced officially—by a nod, a wink and a grin.

Taking a leaf from the entertainer's own book of tricks, 49-year-old widow Jean Friend signalled Liberate he had won his case against the London Daily Mirror by winking, smiling and nodding at him as she emerged from a 3 1/2-hour session in the jury room.

Some reporters say Mrs. Friend, widow of a wealthy Australian sheep farmer, tried to see the 40-year-old entertainer at his hotel and again at a stage appearance Wednesday night.

She thinks Liberate is a "darling" and a "smasher," according to quotes in the papers.

Asked about her smiles and nods in court, Mrs. Friend said: "Oh dear, I hope I didn't do anything wrong."

"Poor Liberate looked so terribly tired and I was tremendously thrilled with our verdict. I was bubbling over with it but I didn't realize that I had winked at him."

ALTON, Ill.—A scheduled 4-H club meeting was sabotaged by a cow.

Helen Jones, 14, hostess for the meeting of the farm youth organization, was hurrying to complete her chores before other members arrived. The cow kicked her.

Helen was taken to hospital with an ankle and leg injury. The meeting was cancelled.

HULL, England—University student Gerard O'Donnell Wednesday cracked the United States Senate filibuster record but faded a few hours later in his assault on the world "talkathon" mark.

He gave up after 29 hours of talk, interrupted by an occasional bite at a sandwich or sip of a drink. Sherry, orange juice and water were his liquid stimulants.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) set the U.S. Senate record with a speech of 22 hours, 26 minutes in April, 1953.

O'Donnell set the new mark mostly reading classical poetry. He was red-eyed and ruddy-faced at the end, after standing all the time at his rostrum in a main street of this city in northeastern England.

PARIS—Brigitte Bardot wed her handsome leading man, Jacques Charrier, today after a week of yes-no replies to rumors they were already married.

This time it is official. The shapely French actress and Charrier took their marriage vows before Mayor Fernand Guillaume in the village of Louveciennes.

She wore a clinging light linen dress for the simple civil ceremony in the town hall. It was witnessed by a handful of villagers and friends of the couple.

Photographers, who belatedly heard about the wedding, rushed to the town hall and nearly broke up the ceremony. With the bride in tears, the ceremony was transferred to a smaller room. Doors and windows were locked against the photographers.

City Oil Firm Wins Judgment

Judgment was given for Harknett Fuel in a County Court action this week over an oil furnace.

Suit was started by the company after Mary Bochko, 459 Superior, failed to pay money owing on the furnace, which she claimed was faulty.

Judge J. B. Clearhugh found Harknett Fuel had "done everything they were called upon to do under the terms of the warranty" and that "everything they had done had been satisfactory, that the furnace had been installed properly and was as it was guaranteed to be, and that the undertaking under the warranty to give free service for one year had been complied with in all respects."

He gave judgment for Harknett in the amount of $654.07, the amount claimed, with costs. He dismissed Miss Bochko's counter-claim for damages for "physical discomfort because of lack of heat" and breach of warranty.

SUB SEARCH RESULTS KEPT SECRET

OTTAWA (CP)—Disclosure of results of Canadian navy and air force investigations of submarine sightings off Canada's coasts would not be in the public interest, Defence Minister Pearkes said today.

He said reports of submarines off Canada arise from time to time and that in almost every case they are investigated.

The minister was replying to Frank Howard, CCF, Skeena, who asked in the Commons about a report that a submarine has been sighted off the British Columbia coast.

Grant for Housing

OTTAWA (CP) — A $75,000 federal housing loan will go towards construction of a 28-unit low-rental housing project for elderly persons in North Vancouver, it was announced today. The loan will be made to the Kiwanis Senior Citizens Homes Limited — the fourth limited-dividend loan to the company — for construction of 28 bachelor units at St. Patrick's Avenue and First Street.

IN PARLIAMENT

Speaker Rules Friday On Land Deal Charges

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Commons Speaker Roland Michener said today he would rule on Opposition leader Lester Pearson's motion for a parliamentary inquiry into a Malton, Ont., land deal at Friday's sitting of the House.

Michener will rule whether the motion, which sets off a bitter four-hour debate in the House Wednesday, is within rules covering parliamentary privilege.

Pearson's motion asks that the Commons elections and privileges committee investigate the Malton expropriation deal to see whether the part played in it by Conservative whip John Pallett was "inconsistent" with the standards parliament expects of its members.

If the Speaker rules the motion in order, the House would then have to vote on its acceptance. The government, which has refused the Opposition request for an investigation, is expected to use its overwhelming majority to defeat the motion in this case.

If Michener rules the motion out of order, it would be placed at the bottom of a list of private members' motions on the Commons order paper and probably die there without debate this session.

Government 'Jumped Gun' on House

The unemployment insurance commission has inadvertently sent out some notices of proposed boosts in the insurance rates, even though Parliament has not yet approved the increases.

Labor Minister Starr, replying to Murdo Martin (C.P. Timmins) who raised the matter, said it was not the commission's intention to circumvent Parliament. The notices had to be prepared in anticipation of the bill's passage.

Instructions had been given they were not to be distributed until the legislation was approved but "unfortunately" some of the notices went out in the mail last week, Mr. Starr said.

A joint Senate-Commons committee studying Indian affairs was told there is an increasing interest among Indians in seeing that their children get an education.

Laval Fortier, deputy minister of citizenship, made the statement after Gordon K. Fraser (P.C. Peterborough) asked whether there is still a reluctance among Indians—especially parents—to "mix with the paleface."

In other developments Wednesday:

1. Trade Minister Churchill announced initial prices for grain will be unchanged in the crop year beginning Aug. 1—$1.40 a bushel for No. 1 northern wheat in store at the Lakehead or Vancouver, 60 cents a bushel for No. 2 CW oats in store at the Lakehead des Joachim's generating station on the Ottawa River.

This plant—a joint project of Crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Ontario Hydro and the Canadian General Electric Company—will cost an estimated $30,000,000 and will produce 20,000 kilowatts of electricity when it goes into operation in 1961. This plant will not produce power on an economic basis but information from it will be invaluable in the design of Candu.

Mr. Churchill said Atomic Energy of Canada will start the final design of Candu immediately to enable early construction. The basic design was completed in May, 1958.

Ontario Hydro, Mr. Churchill said, will help financially in the design of Candu and will provide a site. It also will help in construction of the plant and operate it as a unit of its power distribution system.

"The formula for the purchase price would permit production of power from Candu that is competitive with the cost of power from modern, coal-fired power plants of a similar size," he said.

Mr. Churchill said the basic design of Candu was made by Atomic Energy of Canada's nuclear power plant division in Toronto. He said studies by this division, Chalk River and

... QUEEN ARRIVES IN CANADA

The royal couple will rest tonight before embarking on the six-week tour of Canada that will be the longest any British monarch has undertaken in a single country. The big event of the trip will be the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by the Queen and President Eisenhower late this month. They will also visit the United States briefly.

A benign sun filtered through thick cloud as the royal couple left London airport.

The blue and silver Comet IV airliner took off at 1.05 p.m. London time after a quiet ceremony at the airport.

The Queen, wearing a navy blue and white silk dress, matching coat and white hat with navy band, was the first to enter the aircraft, followed by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret, who drove from the royal lodge at Windsor.

Prince Charles said his farewells last Sunday on a day off from school and Princess Anne stayed behind at Buckingham Palace. The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret remained in the air.

Also in the party seeing the royal couple off on the Queen's first cross-Canada tour as sovereign were Prime Minister Macmillan, the Earl of Home, Commonwealth relations secretary, Home Secretary R. A. Butler and other government officials.

Conversation at the airport was dominated by reports on the weather in Newfoundland.

MAY BE ILLEGAL

Meanwhile, the Fisheries Association of B.C. spokesman for most fishing companies has told the union bargaining may now be illegal.

The union this week rejected a majority conciliation board report that would have awarded shore workers and tendermen a 4 per cent wage increase spread over two years. The union now is conducting its own strike vote but has not yet applied for a government-supervised vote.

Mr. Stevens said in a statement the companies sparked the investigation. He had told the Fisheries Association the union is preparing for strike action in "defence of the right to bargain."

His statement said there is a mounting national and international campaign against "unprecedented use of the Combines Act" to deprive fishermen of the right to bargain and strike if necessary.

The Pay Cheque

ACCORDING TO THE FINANCIAL Post, Canadian delegates to a recent conference of the United Steel Workers of America solemnly resolved that Canadian wages should be at least equal to those paid in the United States. This theory of equal pay for the same jobs in the two neighboring countries is widespread, popular—and impossible.

To be sure, money wages in Canada can be raised to the American level. Or they can be pushed far above the American level. But if they were double the American standard, or still higher, the money wages would mean nothing extra in actual purchasing power. The worker would have the wages, the figures written on the weekly pay cheque, but he would have no more goods than before.

The amount of goods that this nation can have is only the amount it can produce itself or borrow from some other nation. We are producing in Canada at a high rate, borrowing on a gigantic scale from our neighbor and accumulating debts that must be paid off some day. But we still are producing about 25 per cent less goods per capita than the United States.

It is not surprising that our production is lower but amazing that it should be as high as it is under Canadian conditions.

The United States, to begin with, owns the richer half of the continent—richer, that is to say, in the kind of resources required up to now, though our different kind of resources may be more valuable in a new era of technology.

Secondly, the United States has a population, a market, and hence a mass production system ten times as large as ours and that makes, of course, for more efficient industry.

Thirdly—perhaps the most important factor of all—the United States possesses far more machine power per worker than we do and hence can produce more, overall, for every hour of work.

In short, the American economy is richer and more mature than ours, even if ours is the second richest in the world, per capita.

Since wages represent nothing but a claim to the available goods, the figures on the pay cheque represent nothing whatever if goods are not available to satisfy the claim. Increase Canadian money wages tenfold or a hundredfold and they will be worth no more than they are worth now if production per capita does not increase at the same rate. Push Canadian money wages to the American level, and our real wage-scale will still be below that of our neighbors, for the price of our goods will rise and cancel out the increase.

But something else will happen at the same time. As our prices rise we shall be unable to sell our goods and we shall produce less of them. Then wages will fall drastically, no matter what figures are written on the cheque. Also, many of our workers will be without jobs and wages.

As The Financial Post puts it, "In seeking wage parity with the United States Canadian labor is not only trying to cut a bigger piece out of a smaller pie. It's on its way to make it impossible for Canadian entrepreneurs to go on manufacturing any pies at all. . . . We could wish that Canadian productivity, and hence the buying power of the Canadian dollar, were as high as the American. But that just isn't so and wishing won't make it so."

Helping Elder Citizens

Next Tuesday evening between 6.30 and 7.30, the Victoria Senior Citizens' Housing Society hopes to collect the major part of $50,000 in a house-to-house blitz campaign.

It can succeed in that objective only if it finds a ready response to its appeal—and only if it has enough canvassers to cover the community.

At present it has not enough canvassers. It asks now for volunteers from among those people who appreciate the need in Victoria for good accommodation for single, elderly citizens with very small incomes who are able to look after themselves and able to get along with other people.

The first $10,000 of Tuesday evening's collections will complete the furnishing of Banfield Lodge, where 26 selected tenants will be housed. The rest will be devoted toward the construction of more quarters for very deserving cases who could not be admitted to the first unit.

Housing of this type is urgently required in this community.

What Is 'Undue Exploitation'?

MR. DAVIE FULTON HAS wrestled inconclusively with the problem of obscene literature.

As many before him, he has failed to find a specific definition for obscenity. Perhaps there is none.

At all events the definition written into the proposed amendment of the Criminal Code covering that subject is unspecific: "any publication a dominant characteristic of which is the undue exploitation of sex, or of sex and any one or more of the following subjects, namely, crime, horror, cruelty and violence."

By the same amendment the courts would be empowered to order seized or destroyed any obscene publication or crime comic.

But what is "undue exploitation of sex," etc.?

That is the point on which agreement is almost impossible.

The classics abound in plots centred on sex, crime, horror, cruelty, violence and combinations of those subjects. A fair amount of Shakespeare could be placed in that category and an argument could be made that the themes were "unduly exploited."

The workability of so broad a definition will depend largely on the authority empowered to pass judgment. Nor is it certain that reference of the question to the courts will provide a solution. Different judges will have different views on what "undue exploitation" may mean.

There may be some improvement over previous methods of determining what should be admitted into the country, however, if the issue is left to the courts rather than to some unidentified customs officer.

Still, it is difficult to see how even that course will be effective. A few years ago, for instance, the province of Quebec ip a move against nudity, insisted on a bathing costume for a soap advertisement featuring a small and innocent child who performed at fresco-ablutions in the rest of Canada in her birthday suit.

A definite method of determining what is obscene may be set in Canada at some future time. The Criminal Code amendment does not set it.

Inequality in Sentence

AT SWAMPSCOTT, MASS., the other day the United States National Institute on Crime and Delinquency turned its attention to the question of punishment, with interesting developments.

There, as elsewhere, the issue of inequalities in sentence was raised. The effect on prisoners when one received a term of two or three years and another seven to 10 years for identical offences was mentioned. The brooding resentment of the second man was pictured.

This disparity in sentence is difficult for the layman to understand. The layman, on the other hand, does understand that such variations exist—though the case cited may be exaggerated.

Disparities exist for several reasons. Courts with different geographic jurisdictions may take different attitudes to certain offences because local circumstances alter the seriousness of specific crimes.

Furthermore, magistrates and judges can differ in their assessment of illegal acts.

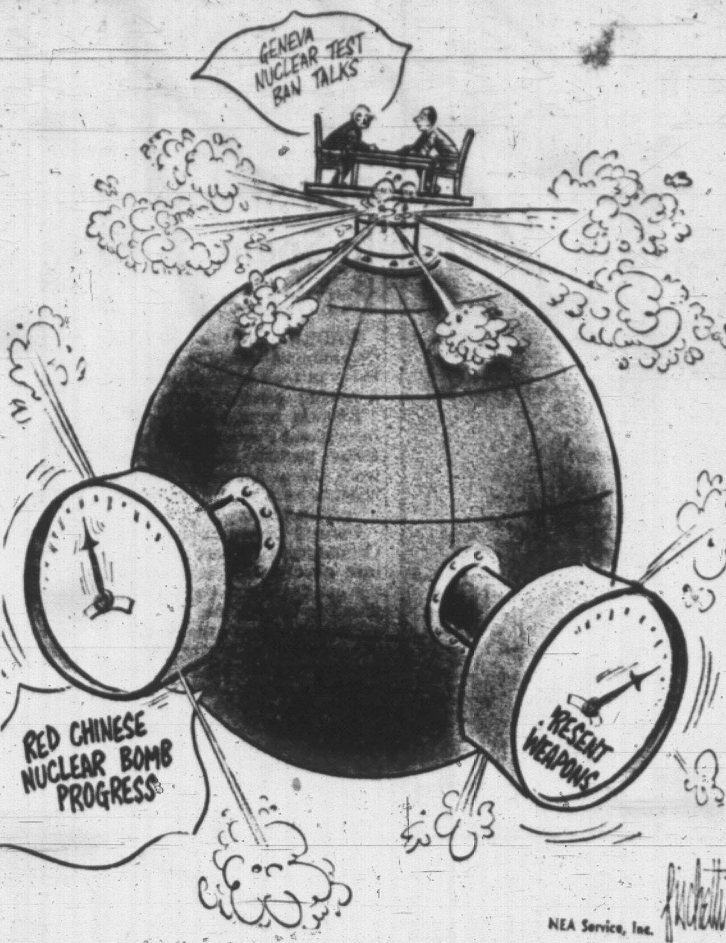

A prisoner here, can of course, appeal sentence, or the Crown can lodge an appeal where it considers the disposition of a case unsatisfactory.

On the other hand, it is quite possible that a person may be sentenced and never carry his case higher than the original trial although another individual convicted under analogous circumstances is treated more leniently.

Notice was taken by the Massachusetts conference of the fact that while crimes may be identical, the persons committing them are not. Hence, a court considering the criminal as well as the crime, might justifiably vary sentence from case to case.

But it was the general consensus of the experts that a need exists for some sort of judicial board to review sentences imposed by other judges—as is done in Massachusetts and Connecticut. The point seems well taken. It would be reassuring to the public interested in fair treatment for convicted persons, and probably a great deal easier on trial judges.

The Great Moment of Untruth

IN his history of the French Revolution Carlyle remarks somewhere (I don't have the book with me in the woods today) that no people is ever great when it is making a deliberate gesture of greatness. The people of Paris, at the time of the Terror, repaired, as I recall it, to the Champs de Mars, there took a ceremonial oath to the Revolution and went home, after a wild celebration under the impression that everything was settled. In fact, nothing was settled and the worst days still lay ahead.

Hutchison

THE greatness of the nation brought it through those days but that greatness had nothing to do with the gesture of greatness. In the same fashion the greatness of modern Britain, the greatness of nameless people in their private lives, the grubby heroism of little men, brought Britain through the last war in a feat of endurance too great for any gesture. For that finest hour a gesture, a ceremony, a boast would have been not only an anti-climax but an absurdity like a neon sign on Westminster Abbey or a Yuletide tissue paper hat on the head of the British lion.

SOMETHING of this sort is about to happen in British Columbia. Premier W. A. C. Bennett is loading the bonds of his government in an armored car which will carry them to his hometown of Kelowna in triumph procession across the province. (Why they should leave Victoria and go to the Okanagan town is not clear but the citizens of the capital will not be jealous if they follow this queer gesture through to its conclusion.)

Again, it is not clear why the bonds should be placed in a single car, one of those battered contraptions that carry money and valuta from one city bank to another. Surely something more impressive could be devised for this great occasion.

The cavalcade should be protected at least by a regiment of cavalry, a few mounted bands and a man on horseback. If we are going to perform this charade, let's do it right with all the trimmings.

At least let us declare a general holiday so that the inspired citizenry may stand at the roadside and watch the splendid procession go by, with pauses here and there while Mr. Bennett lectures the assembled school children on the glories of Social Credit—a memory to be handed down from generation to generation.

Arrived at Kelowna, the Grand Army will encamp around its precious freight with sentries, patrols and passwords, lest some enemy attempt to steal the worthless bonds. Strictest precautions must be taken for you never know what the CCF, the Liberals, the Conservatives or the Russians are up to. Is the armored car strong enough to resist an atomic bomb, for instance? Is Mr. Bennett's bodyguard well trained, each man sworn to die for the sinking funds? In these momentous affairs no chances should be taken.

IF attacks are successfully repulsed, if the treasure survives, then the cancelled bonds of British Columbia's direct debt will be placed upon a barge, the vast pile of paper will be ignited and a mighty funeral pyre will announce, so all the world can see, that the people of this province now owe nothing to anybody.

Apart from a trifle of half a billion dollars in contingent liabilities we shall read in those soaring flames that we are debt-free, purged of the evil Money Power, completely sanctified. With a little help from the taxpayers, Mr. Bennett will have broken the chains of usury and set us free. As in the French Revolution, everything will be settled by ceremony. All our sins will be consumed by fire.

ONLY a churlish and literal-minded citizen would mar such an occasion by pointing out that all the facts surrounding it are distorted, that the real debt will not be cancelled, that we shall still owe more than ever after the barge and its cargo have turned to ashes.

For we are not dealing here with a fact; we are dealing with a fiction and it should be the best fiction that our imagination can contrive. If the emperor wears no clothes, as in the old fable, let the imaginary clothes be of the very best stuff. If the cancellation of the debt is imaginary also, let the flames be as large, the cheers as loud, the speeches as noble as Mr. Bennett can make them.

NAY, if the whole government would leap into the lake with heroic shouts of abnegation the thing would be perfect and, next day, we would have no burden to carry, except the indirect debt and a modest charge for the celebration.

In an age where the show is everything, the reality nothing, where the showman rules and the statesman cannot make his voice heard above the din, let us not waste those bonds. If they are no good for anything else, they can be burned to make a Roman holiday. For one evening at least British Columbia can enjoy the sensation of greatness before it starts to pay the bill next morning.

The Vote on Sewers

Saanich Sewer Bylaw

The provision of sewer facilities in congested areas is generally accepted as necessary by most reasonable people, and the intelligent ratepayers of Saanich do not require any high-pressure propaganda from the Real Estate Board of Victoria to convince them of this necessity. They would probably be willing to accept the present over-all plan even though it involved payment for benefits they might never enjoy.

However, the present plan is unfair and unrealistic in that it imposes payment of the costs on the land assessment. This is not a land drainage scheme, and the costs should be borne by the unit which it benefits, namely the dwelling house, either by a flat rate per unit or graduated according to the assessed value; houses to be built in future should pay their share from the inception, and the period of payment should be the longest which can be arranged.

It has been argued that the burden on farm lands will not be unduly great as such lands are assessed at a much lower rate, and in any case will probably soon be subdivided; however, the majority of holdings in this area are small parcels not classified as farm lands, the owners of which are in most cases unable or unwilling to subdivide, and find that they can love their neighbors better by not living in their pockets.

For these, already hard hit by vastly increased assessments, payment would involve a disproportionate burden in many cases amounting to expropriation. Incidentally, if it is possible to exclude Ten Mile Point (a definitely congested area) and Queenswood, why not exclude the whole area north and east of the Marine Drive where similar conditions prevail and where, with a very few exceptions, further subdivision is neither desirable nor possible?

The authorities envisage a population of 30,000 for this area within a generation, and appear to take satisfaction from the prospect. While the destruction of one of the most beautiful areas in the vicinity of Victoria may be inevitable, there appears to be no need to accelerate the process; the proposed payment scheme will inevitably force a wild scramble to subdivide all available land, for the deletion of the speculative builder, into the smallest permissible lots; and the next generation will be asked to sanction a slum clearance scheme.

For these reasons, and others which have been able to set out by other correspondents, the bylaw in its present form can not be accepted.

N. T. PORTER.
4271 Gordon Head Road.

What's the Real Cost?

Saanich authorities have picked a land assessment of $600 as an average in making a sample computation of part of the cost of the sewer plan. Since many land assessments were more than doubled last year, this can't be a very realistic figure today. It produces a deceptively low estimate of what the sewers will cost the taxpayer.

Some streets obviously have septic tank problems. But many do not. The householders who spent a little money and effort on their septic tank systems and put them in properly are being asked to pay for a remedy for the cheap, inadequate septic tank jobs some builders have installed. Is this good enough?

SAANICH TAXPAYER.

Sewer Exemptions

The plan to install a comprehensive sewer system throughout most of the Cadboro Bay and Gordon Head districts of Saanich is to be commended.

But why are the Queenswood district of Saanich and several small parcels of land lying within the proposed sewer zone exempt from sharing the benefits and the costs of the project? Reasons given, that subdivision of the Queenswood area is restricted to lots of not less than one half acre and that costs would be unduly high, do not sound satisfactory. It must be pointed out that similar restrictions and conditions could be applied to other areas in the sewer zone, and justice to property should be equitable.

By post, press and radio propaganda a comparatively few taxpayers of a widespread municipality are being urged to undertake alone the full cost of a project of major proportions, which even the provincial government would hesitate to tackle.

Before they proceed any further the Saanich Council should look into the feasibility of a fertilizer plant to aid in meeting the costs of the project.

DENIS H. BESLEY.
4360 Gordon Head Road.

Sewer Costs

Regarding the sewage disposal scheme for the Cadboro Bay-Gordon Head area; it has transpired that the estimated cost of the scheme—namely $1,066,000—only covers the engineering aspects of it, and does not include the cost of financing it.

There are approximately 4,000 eligible voters in the area affected. This does not mean that there are 4,000 separate properties, as no doubt many properties are held jointly by two people both of whom have a vote.

There are between 1,500 and 2,000 houses in the area.

The proposed levy of $3.20 per $100 of land assessment is designed to meet both engineering and financial costs.

The scheme does not include the construction of storm sewers, that is to say sewers that would take care of the run-off of water caused by rain or snow.

It is regrettable that an estimate of the financial costs of the scheme has not been made public. On the 11th of this month the Bank of Canada rate was 5.42 per cent, which means, that should the municipality borrow $1,066,000, it would have to pay in the neighborhood of 6 per cent for it, or in other words the cost of the loan spread over 25 years would be approximately $750,000, bringing the estimated total cost of the scheme to $1,816,000.

Using as a basis for further calculations the average assessment of $600, and the estimated 4,000 voters as sole owners of property, the levy of $3.20 per $100 of the land assessment would over the 25 years bring in a total sum of $1,920,000, or more than sufficient to meet the estimated cost of laying the main sewer. But should a substantial number of the voters be joint owners, the levy of $3.20 may not be sufficient to meet the cost of laying the main sewer.

In addition to the above costs every property owner will be charged $7 per year for the upkeep of the sewers; an estimated annual charge of 40 cents per foot frontage for lateral sewers, or a minimum tax of $20 and maximum of $40 per year; a cash payment of $80 for the connection; plus the cost of laying pipes from his residence to the sewer, whether main sewer or lateral.

Section 531 subsection 5 (b) empowers the municipal council to force owners of real property to connect their buildings to the appropriate sewer, should they fail to do so, the council may do the work at the expense of any such owner.

The Victoria Real Estate Board appears to have more interest in the scheme than the property owners.

FROM WASHINGTON

Franco-American Relations

IN U.S. relations with France we are entering what may, unhappily, be a rough and difficult time. Immediately and specifically this is because Gen. de Gaulle has raised a number of large and highly controversial issues.

But before we look at them, it will be useful to understand, if we can, the historical situation in which the issues have been posed. Since the war which ended fifteen years ago Franco-American relations have been based on a premise which has never openly avowed but has always been assumed both in Paris and in Washington. The premise has been that France, though it is counted among the victors, was in fact defeated, and that her colonial empire is in the process of dissolution, and that she is no longer a first-class power.

The chronic instability of the post-war governments in France, the budgetary and monetary disorders, supported this view.

The U.S. government acquired a habit of not consulting France regularly and genuinely, and indeed of treating her with less intimacy and confidence not only than Great Britain but even Western Germany.

On two recent occasions which might have led to a war involving France—the landing in Lebanon and the affair at Qemoy—there was no full consultation with Paris.

Never Surrendered

We must never forget that Gen. de Gaulle, to his everlasting honor, is the Frenchman who never surrendered and who never accepted defeat, and it is a kind of historic justice that he should be the man who now insists that France must not be treated as a defeated and inferior power.

In this context we may look at the issues. They were raised diplomatically last summer and then in a note addressed to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan of Sept. 24, 1958. This note has never been published. But it is said to set up three French objectives.

One is that NATO, which is now a regional pact, shall become a global alliance in which France, Britain and America have the same policy and the same strategy in Europe, in Africa, and in Asia.

The second is that these three powers shall control collectively the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world—in the Far East quite as much as in Europe.

The third is that France shall have access to American nuclear secrets. This would mean that the U.S. undertook to enable France to become a nuclear power without the long and expensive experimentation which Great Britain has gone through.

The basic French argument here is that in the world today a first class power is by definition one with nuclear weapons, and that France must be treated in fact, not merely in form, as a first class power.

NATO Weakness

The French government is backing up its policy by drawing away from the integration of military forces under Gen. Norstad and the NATO treaty organization. There is no question of French allegiance to the Atlantic pact as a military alliance. But it is not improbable that Gen. de Gaulle has a poor opinion, both politically and militarily, of the NATO establishment with its headquarters near Paris.

Thus, it is likely that the existing NATO establishment would have to pay for a failure to satisfy Gen. de Gaulle. Can we satisfy him? We must put the question this way because in fact only the United States could satisfy him.

It is obvious that we cannot satisfy him entirely. This Congress surely will not amend the law about communicating nuclear secrets. Nor is it possible for the President to make an unqualified commitment that we will in all circumstances support France in Algeria.

Where we can do something useful and important is to come to a solemn understanding with France—and of course with Great Britain, also—about the use of nuclear weapons anywhere in the world. Such an understanding would have to have as its corollary a much higher degree of consultation about global policy than exists today.

A Strange, Strong Book

AS it's only a paperback costing $1.75, I bought myself a copy of Sheila Watson's unusual first novel, The Double Hook. I don't really like the book. It's too disturbing. I don't like the characters. There's not a likeable one among the lot. And at first, I didn't like the writing style.

In fact, I almost put the book aside. But my sense of duty drove me on, and, after the first few pages, I began to feel a real, if reluctant, admiration for this astonishing first book.

It's an account of about 24 hours in the lives of a bunch of scruffy people living in a fold of the unidentified but presumably Dry Belt hills. It could have been a flat, sordid, undistinguished tale.

Instead, it's a study of man's response to life. And the key to the title and substance of the book lies in the passage: "He doesn't know that you can't catch the glory on a hook and hold on to it. That when you fish for the glory you catch the darkness too. That if you hook twice the glory you hook twice the fear."

The Double Hook is not likely to be a best-seller for it makes demands upon the reader. It's not a book for those who like to skim and skip. The writing is too tight for that.

The writing is what gripped me. Ethel Wilson's books have a hint of this style here and there. Sheila Watson has carried it much further.

It's a dangerous style to write, for it lends itself to parody. A lot of us could have some wicked fun with it. But eager young writers who may try to copy Mrs. Watson's style will fall flat on their literary face if they only catch the surface characteristics of her writing and fail to match her integrity, artistry and imaginative power.

For there's power in this book. Power and poetic beauty in spite of the harsh reality of the scenes described. Power that's held in reserve and magnificently controlled.

It seems to me that anyone who's interested in Canadian writing should read this book.

There'll be arguments about the meaning of The Double Hook.

But there can be little argument about the strange strength and bare beauty of the writing.

It's queer, compelling, and artistically right.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Acne Treatment

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Dr. Herbert Rattner has written a fine article on acne. He says that since there are several causes for acne there must be several types of treatment. Because of this, when people write asking me how to treat their acne, I can't give any simple answer. As Dr. Rattner says, the physician tries to lessen the activity of the grease-making glands in the skin, perhaps by applying some form of radiation and by modifying the diet.

He will try to combat infection of these glands, perhaps with a small daily dose of some antibiotic drug. Because there is a relation between acne and the glands of internal secretion, it helps in some cases to use estrogenic (ovarian) substances and perhaps steroids of the cortisone type. Some skin specialists will no longer use X-rays because of the possibility of doing harm, but some still use them. Other men use ultra-violet rays. Most skin specialists advise the youngsters against eating too much and especially against eating foods such as chocolate to which they may happen to be allergic.

The youngsters should keep a record of unusual foods eaten the day before his acne flares up. Some doctors give toxoids, vaccines, vitamins, ointments and psychotherapy. Some give psychotherapy to help the youngster who gets to feeling very unhappy and sexually interior because of the condition of the face. After the disease has quit, perhaps around the age of 22, if the skin is badly pitted, it can be planed flat again.

Some skin specialists advise that the patient wash his face twice a day with soap. This will tend to open up the mouths of the fat-producing glands. Some advise that a comedone extractor be bought at a drug-store. With this, someone in the home should squeeze out black heads as soon as they form, thus cutting down on the number of infected pimples on the face.

Alvarez

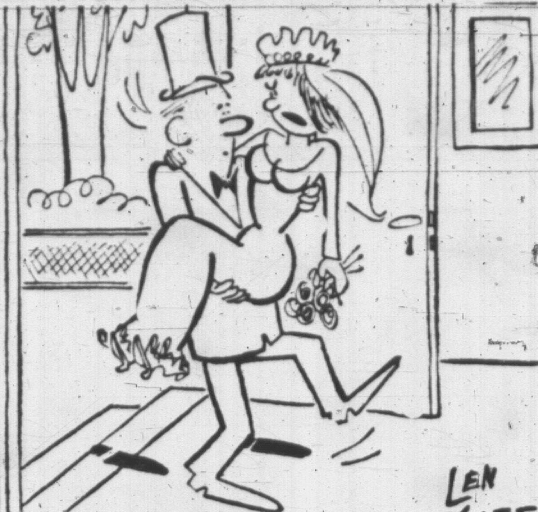

Drs. John M. Adams, David T. Imagawa, Stanley W. Wright and George Tarjan, from the University of California, Los Angeles, Medical School recently announced that they have tested on several hundred patients in a state hospital. Three years after these people were vaccinated, an epidemic of measles came along which attacked more than 10 per cent of the patient population.

In this epidemic only a third as many of the vaccinated persons came down with measles as did those in the unvaccinated group. It is advisable that we have a measles vaccine because in many cases measles is not a mild disease. Last year in the U.S., there were more than twice as many deaths resulting from measles as from polio. Occasionally, measles is followed by an encephalitis (brain fever), and half of the children so affected are left with some permanent injury of the brain. If research workers in the field of viruses can wipe out measles, it will be a great accomplishment.

In the Copple Hospital of Nottingham, England, a remarkable new experiment is going to be tried out. A wing is being added to a hospital—a wing which will be run by the patients! Doctors and nurses will come in only on invitation. Doubtless, the only types of patients admitted will be those who are well-behaved and troubled only by some mental quirk which they get under control before they can safely take their place in the community again. Dr. Gideon Waddis says that the idea back of the project is to teach these mentally disturbed persons to live with their fellows.

I always beg my mentally disturbed patients to struggle to stay social. The hermit tends to become queer. I urge, also, to feel responsible for someone else. That is the secret of Alcoholic Anonymous. Dr. Waddis is going to ask each patient in the new hospital to be responsible for another one. That will tend to keep him saner than he would otherwise be. Relatives and friends will be invited to come and join in the activities of the patients. They will have art studios and shops and clubs and a little theatre.

Children Flogged In Africa

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions Wednesday published a resolution condemning South African racial policies as "morally indefensible and an affront to the human dignity of all races."

The resolution, drafted after an on-the-spot investigation by confederation officials, said South Africa's racial segregation policy is "morally indefensible... and degrades those who apply it as well as its victims."

It alleged there was compulsory flogging of children and adults for a large number of minor offences and added: "According to official estimates, 37,000 juveniles were whipped in 1956 and 39,000 in 1957."

The resolution claimed that 500,000 Africans appear in courts every year for alleged infringement of laws requiring the carrying of identity cards and added: "Thousands of them are abducted before trial as cheap farm labor."

"Conditions in farm prisons... are in many cases so shocking as a result of flogging and inhuman treatment that numerous deaths have been reported while it is likely that many more remain unknown."

The committee appealed for a boycott on all South African goods except where such a boycott would lead to "further misery."

Bonner Backs Family Court For Victoria

The B.C. attorney-general's department has urged establishment of a family and juvenile court for Greater Victoria and has forwarded suggestions to the various municipalities.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in effect, a family court does exist, but it is a question whether it "could be better performed" if separated from the police court.

He said the municipalities are considering the proposals of his department.

Fairy Ring Needs Magic

Fairy Ring seems to be the worst of the lawn troubles experienced locally, and the person who can stumble on a cure which will work under all conditions will not require any further provision for old age.

The word "stumble" is used advisedly because controlled experiments and research dollars have failed to produce a satisfactory answer. Hundreds of controls have been recommended by gardeners during the past 20 years, and while each may have worked under certain conditions, none would repeatedly produce results.

The fungus is believed to be the same as found on well decomposed logs in brush-covered or wooded areas, and this has led to the reasoning that old tree stumps rotting under a lawn are the beginning of the trouble.

LACK OF WATER
Copper fungicides give some measure of control under some conditions but results are not consistent.

The killing of the grass plants results from lack of water at their roots. The mycelium of the fungus, those white threads which spread a yard or more beyond the ring of toadstools, become so massed and water-repellant that no moisture can penetrate, therefore the grass dries up.

mit the penetration of air and water has proved beneficial and encouraged the recommendation to remove the infected soil, replace with fresh soil, and reseed.

While some authorities warn against spreading the disease by spilling infected soil on non-infected grass, others say that when the soil has been loosened and exposed to air and moisture for a period, it can be re-seeded without the disease returning.

One factor which appears common to most reports of Fairy Ring is shallow, impoverished, dry soil. Soil rich in humus and capable of holding moisture seems to resist the fungus.

Since there is no recognized cure, the gardener must experiment until he finds a control suited to his own conditions.

Jack

EGOS SHOW THROUGH ARCTIC 'PASTY PALLOR'

MONTREAL (UPI)—The average community in the Far North is an unhappy one, torn by jealousy, boredom and over-developed egos, says an expert on northern living.

Dr. Maxwell Dunbar, associate professor of zoology at McGill University, told a dinner meeting of the National Federation of Financial Analysts' Societies that the men in the average air base, DEW Line station or mining camp were far out of their element.

"Most of them . . . with movie and corner drugstore minds, live in barracks with connecting corridors . . . at a stuffy and overheated level 24 hours a day," he said. "It is not necessary to go outside at all . . . (and) . . . a pasty pallor is the fashionable complexion and everyone is overfed."

He suggested that people interested in northern development should try and recruit men and women who would enjoy living under true northern conditions, and by providing proper and separate living quarters.

TRIO INDICTED BY JURY ON 'MYSTERY DEAL'

Truck Tycoons Paid $200,000 to Beck

NEW YORK (AP)—Former teamsters' boss Dave Beck and two trucking executives were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday for a mysterious $200,000 deal of five years ago.

The indictment was linked with testimony two years ago before the Senate rackets investigation committee in Washington, and a subsequent inquiry into Beck's income tax returns.

The indictment did not specify its accusations against Beck and the two executives, Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Company of Detroit, and Burge Seymour, 55, president of The Associated Transport Incorporated of New York. Nor would U.S. attorney S. Hazard Gillespie elaborate.

But it apparently revolved around a $200,000 payment made to Beck in 1954 and represented by Fruehauf and Seymour as a loan. A year earlier, Beck had used teamster union funds to loan Fruehauf $1,500,000 and bail him out in a proxy fight for control of his company.

In Seattle, Beck had no comment, but his lawyer said the indictment "involves a legal interpretation of the act I've

Realtors Face Studios Grind

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Jack Mears is one after-dinner speaker who doesn't put his audience into slumberland. If anything, he gives them insomnia.

Malone to put their teeth into.

Some of his pearls... It is conceivable that in 20 years a person won't be able to practice the profession of real estate unless he has gone through the same period of education as a lawyer.

"...the day is past for a man who wants to come into the (real estate) business and sell a few houses without regard to the consequences."

Education is something early realtors left to scholars. Many of them parlayed a glib tongue, a fascinating personality and little else into fat real estate commissions. Today a real estate licence can only be obtained by participating in and passing a four-week course at the University of B.C.

To get an agent's licence an applicant must serve two years as a salesman or have company support before taking and succeeding in a six-week course at the university.

If he's inclined, a salesman or agent can go even farther. After five years as a realtor, he can take a gruelling three-year correspondence course leading to a fellowship in the Canadian Institute of Realtors. Only one Victorian—North-western's Laurie Kirk—has his FIR but more are working on it. Fraser Biscoe is one. So is Jack Mears.

Mr. Mears spoke of "higher" education. The Real Estate Board has that in hand, too. This fall a chair of real estate is being established at UBC.

One deal which any Victoria salesman would like to have had his hands on came to light last week. It began 10 years ago when an American couple, visiting Hawaii for the first time, liked what they saw. They liked it so much the husband handed over $40,000 for a few acres of sandy beach and palm trees. When he died his will prevented his widow from selling the property "until 1959 when it might appreciate appreciably." Well, 1959 came along and the property was sold. That is why one of the passengers on the luxury liner Chusan is taking a round-the-world cruise—with $2,000,000 in her jeans.

Trade Deficit Still Climbing

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's deficit in foreign trade of goods and services in the first quarter of the year stood at $450,000,000, showing a big increase from $282,000,000 in the corresponding period last year.

The bureau of statistics reported today that the increase was due mainly to a trebling of the deficit on the balance of trade in goods, from $63,000,000 a year ago to $188,000,000 this year.

The deficit in non-merchandise transactions, such as investment, tourist spending and gold shipments amounted to $262,000,000, up from $219,000,000.

The deficit figure means that in the first three months of the year, Canada imported more goods and services than it exported.

It is the biggest quarterly deficit since the April-June period of 1957, when it stood at $528,000,000.

The bureau of statistics said that the deficit on the trade of goods resulted from a rise in the value of imports, while the imbalance in non-merchandise transactions resulted from larger Canadian tourist spending abroad, larger payments of interest and dividends to foreign investors and a temporary reduction in gold exports.

The bureau said the rise in the deficit in trade of services has been rising steadily since 1952.

Dealing with the deficit in trade of goods, the bureau said imports normally increase in periods of high incomes and business activity in Canada.

There were few changes in the direction of trade, with moderate increases in shipments to the U.S. and Britain, and some declines in exports to Europe and Latin America.

The deficit on travel and tourist spending rose from $69,000,000 to $84,000,000, mainly as a result of higher Canadian spending in the U.S. and overseas.

The deficit on income accounts rose to $110,000,000 from $94,000,000 as Canadian receipts from investments abroad slipped and Canadian payments to foreign investors increased.

Shelves Stocked as Buying Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Business stock-building and consumer spending pushed the value of all Canadian goods and services to record levels in the first three months of 1959.

But the rating of that gross national product at $33,388,000 for a full year—while up $1,204,000,000 on the figure for 1958—trailed a government forecast by $1,000,000,000.

Restocking of business shelves, trimmed during the recession, sparked part of the increase. Heavier consumer buying also contributed. Housing fell off after a steady 18-month increase and money spent on business production facilities also dropped slightly.

The Bureau of Statistics, reporting the gross national product figures Wednesday, said the first-quarter gain represents an increase in volume rather than a simple case of prices rises.

Language Difficulty Cuts Penalty

A Victoria man who pleaded guilty to three counts of making false statements to the Unemployment Insurance Commission got off lightly in city police court Wednesday because of a language difficulty.

Orlando Trozzo, 2655 Cedar Hill, was fined $25 on the first count and sentenced was suspended on the other counts at the request of counsel for the commission.

It was charged Trozzo received $65 from UIC in May and June, neglecting to state he earned $180 working part-time in the three-week period. He has repaid the commission, court was told.

Counsel said the commission was satisfied Trozzo had difficulty understanding the regulations.

Prices had been relatively stable. The gain in labor income "is one of the largest in several years".

The overall picture indicated increased economic activity, more employment and higher labor and corporation income, but there was a moderate worsening in the adverse import-export trade balance of goods and services.

The government forecast by Finance Minister Fleming anticipated Canada's gross national product this year at about $34,400,000,000.

Highest previous quarterly rating was $32,696,000,000 for the last three months of 1958—a period when the volume of non-agricultural output was judged to have eased ahead of the pre-recession peak by a small margin.

The bureau said that the buildup of business inventory rose by almost $500,000,000 at annual rates, a pace not seen since the first half of 1957. Indications are that this buildup operated on a broad front, said the bureau.

SPENDING UP

Spending on consumer goods and services was up two per cent on the last quarter of 1958, when a similar trend was noted. Demand for durable goods was relatively large, chiefly for autos which were up nearly eight per cent although radios and appliances also rose.

Furniture purchases declined but personal spending on non-durable goods rose by an estimated one per cent, excluding alcoholic beverages, footwear, gasoline and household supplies. Food purchases rose only fractionally.

MILWAUKEE SLIPPING

Is It Time For Slump?

By Associated Press

What's happened to Milwaukee Braves? They've lost 10 of their last 15 games and have been shut out three times in the last five games. Is this the beginning of the end of their hold on the National League pennant—or is this just another of those slumps, such as they had and shrugged off while winning the flag the past two years?

Either way, they have only a half-game edge left from what was a bulging, 4½-game lead a month ago after dropping a two-night doubleheader to Los Angeles Dodgers, Tuesday night. They were checked on five hits by lefthander Sandy Koufax, while losing the opener 10-2, then were blanked on two hits by Danny McDevitt, another lefty, as the Dodgers took the second game 4-0.

GIANTS CLOSE BEHIND

That put the second-place San Francisco Giants—7½ winners over Cincinnati Redlegs—within .009 percentage points of the champs. The sweep hoisted the Dodgers into fourth place, one percentage point behind Pittsburgh, following the Pirates' 5-2 loss to Chicago Cubs. St. Louis Cardinals whipped Philadelphia Phillies 10-4.

And in the American League young Milt Pappas could not have picked a better time to hurl his first major league shutout.

The big right-hander, 20, put it away with the best pitching of his brief career, for Baltimore, dropping Detroit Tigers 4-0 with a two-hitter and halting the Orioles' skid in the American League race.

Pappas, signed two years ago off the Detroit sandlots, struck out six and did not walk a man. He had a perfect game going until Lew Burberet got the first of the Tigers' two singles with two out in the fifth inning. The other hit, in the sixth, was by Jim Bunning, who allowed only four Baltimore hits but lost.

Pappas retired the last 11 men in a row while gaining a 6-3 record.

That left the fourth-place Birds, who have lost five of seven since tying for first last week, 3½ games behind Cleveland's league-leading Indians, whose game at Boston was postponed because of cold weather. Chicago White Sox were beaten 7-3 at New York while Washington beat Kansas City 7-2.

Ottawa Signs Import, Two New Canadians

OTTAWA (UPI)—Ottawa Rough Riders today announced the signing of halfback Gerry Eddy of Trinity College, Texas, for the 1959 Big Four season.

At the same time, Rider coach Frank Clair also revealed he has signed two new Canadian players, veteran halfback Dave West of Kitchener-Waterloo and local tackle Stu Smith.

VARLEY CAR STALLED AGAIN

There's a Lot of Noise Back There!

That committee-room backfire is loud enough to be labelled as a sure cure for insomnia.

It certainly isn't giving car owner Grant King and driver Dick Varley much sleep these days, and the noise from behind the scenes is also doing a good job of overshadowing all that goes on before stock car racing fans at Western Speedway.

Briefly, this is what the week's stock car picture looks like:

Esquimalt Whiz Moves Up Ladder

Eleanor Whitehead is stepping up into stiffer competition.

The flashy Esquimalt High School miss, who for two years in a row has won the junior championship in the inter-high school track and field meet, has entered the Times-YMCA Vancouver Island championships on Saturday, June 27.

Miss Whitehead will have her choice of three events in which she can be expected to fare well—the midget 100-yard dash, the women's open 220 and the juvenile high jump.

She won all three events in the inter-high meet with ease.

STERN TEST

She may receive strong competition in the high jump, however, from another local girl—Carol Cassillo, of Mount Douglas High.

Miss Cassillo claimed the senior high jump title in the inter-high meet and was second in the broad jump another event which she expects to enter.

But they will be facing the toughest competition of their young lives in this meet—Alice Whitty, present Canadian high jump record holder, for example.

Miss Whitty set the record of 5 ft. 2 in. in the Island meet two years ago and almost beat it last year.

Tigers Triumph

Saanich Tigers stopped Victoria City, 14-11, in a pee-wee division Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association game at Memorial Arena Wednesday.

Carlings Clout Shamrocks For Fourth Straight Win

Jack McKinnon is a thinking man who has come up with a system he believes should be made compulsory for all teams in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Wearing of watching players straggle slowly on and off the playing surfaces, the coach of Vancouver Carlings now has his athletes trot briskly onto the floor at the start of each period and back to the dressing room when the sessions end. He also has Carlings hustling to and from the players' bench on line changes.

"They should make all the teams use our system," says McKinnon. "It would make the game a lot better for the fans and it also keeps players more alert."

The manner in which the surging Carlings completed their climb from cellar to penthouse by racking up Victoria Shamrocks, 11-7, at Memorial Arena, Thursday night—suggests Jack shouldn't worry. Other teams may have to adopt the McKinnon method in self-defence.

Alert and on the move all the way, Carlings were an impressive club as they carved

Desire, Team Work Told the Story

"This game has gotta be a team effort," McKinnon beamed after it was all over, "and that's what it was, tonight. The old desire is back and we were keeping the ball on the move."

He couldn't have chosen better words to point out the weakness in the Irish pattern. Seldom showing the determination of their rivals, the Rocks were hampered by the tendency of some players to hold the ball for useless shuffles on the fringe of the Vancouver defence. The result was that the Victoria attack was often slowed to a stroll and the rookies, who had sparked the Irish through a six-game unbeaten streak with their speed and hustle, never hit high gear.

Also bogging down the Rocks were unsuccessful blocking plays, which jammed up the area in front of the Vancouver goal and confused nobody but the Irish.

Ball-hogging habits didn't go unnoticed by Norm Baker and the Shamrock coach expects to have a few lineup changes worked out before Nanaimo visits Memorial Arena next Wednesday.

Outside Support All Pages Needed

Wakeman-Trimble have had a busy Senior Amateur Baseball League season so far, but if they want to better their last-place position, they would do well to remember the age-old adage: "charity begins at home."

Wednesday night at Athletic Park, Wakeman-Trimble gave their rivals all the edge they needed to win in the fourth inning, coming up with four errors as Pages scored seven runs on only three hits for an 11-4 victory.

The one bad inning gave Pages' Des Moseley all the edge he needed to hang up the win. Loser was Jerry Booth.

Wakeman-Trimble gets a chance to reverse the trend they started when they meet Eagles tonight, starting at 7 p.m.

Wide-Open Golf Race Under Way

MONTREAL (CP)—The $25,000 Canadian Open golf tournament got under way today without a solid favorite being established after most of the touring pros had played several practice rounds over the Isleworth Club course.

The first threesome moved off at 5:30 a.m. PDT, but most of the big names among the 149 competitors were scheduled for afternoon rounds.

Most of the pros played casual rounds—Wednesday, getting the feel of the 6,695-yard, par-72 course.

All of them finished the course with honest respect for its fairways and greens, in top shape after several days rain during the early part of the week. At least one, Bob Toski, figured predictions of well-below par scores for the tournament were over-optimistic.

"I think a 280 might take it," the wiry little golfer said after finishing with a one-over 73. He played the back nine on one foot and kept his partners in stitches with imitations of fellow-pros.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard, who conserves his strength by picking his spots on the tournament trail, started his practice round poorly but finished with an even par 72.

"I was just shadow-boxing, anyway," Leonard said afterwards. "The course is playing a bit longer than it did when I was here a couple of years ago. I have never seen better greens in the Montreal area."

The lowest practice round turned in Wednesday was a 69 by Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Texas. That compares with the competitive course record of 65 established in 1957 by Freddie Hawkins and Mike Souhak, neither of whom is entered in the open this year.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Luis Rodriguez, 181, Cuba, outpointed Virgil Atkins, 185, St. Louis, 10.

Anglers Must Cool Heels Until Trout Legal Game

By IAN SMITH

The spout of water poured from the back of the tank truck, breaking new life into Durance Lake.

And, within a matter of minutes a "dead" lake was once again ready for fishing. But the 2,000 10-inch rainbow trout that the Fish and Game Branch liberated in Durance Lake Wednesday will not be legal quarry until July 4.

The fish tumbled out of the nozzle, buffeted by the tank pressure. Some didn't want to leave the tank, and tried to swim up the curved stream of foamy water. They fell into the lake anyway and, out of milling confusion, formed into orderly schools.

SLOWLY MOVED

A few swam purposefully towards the lilies down the shore a bit. Most just moved gradually away in ever-widening circles as biologist David Hearn explained the program.

"They will not breed in this lake," he said. "We shall have to restock it as required."

"But this lake shall serve as a test, in that this is the first time we will know exactly how many fish are being caught in relation to the number of fish present."

They will know because they plan to be around when the lake is opened to fishermen.

"There will be a large catch the first weekend," he said, "but after that it won't be so heavy."

"We hope, though, that we will have to restock it every year, because if we do it will mean that the program is a success in that fishermen are using the lake."

A few of the fish didn't survive the long trip in two tank trucks from Cultus Lake Hatcheries, near Nanaimo.

They lay dead or dying on the bottom, belly up or on their sides. But there were surprisingly few.

"That's why we planted large fish," Mr. Hearn said. "The mortality rate is a lot lower. More survive to be caught by anglers."

The rainbow were still around, some moving more sluggishly than others, but the numbers near the shore were thinning as more fish spread out around the surrounding shoreline.

A few of the boys were jokingly muttering about "too bad somebody didn't bring a rod."

In case anybody has that idea between now and July 4, however, Mr. Hearn warned that the lake will be watched so that everybody will have a fair and equal chance at the fish on opening day.

Third-Seeded Miller Quarterfinal Victim

All the ballots were returned Wednesday night in singles play at the annual Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club championship with a big surprise for the scrutineers and scoring judges.

Ray Aldinger moved into the semi-final round of the men's singles with an upset victory over third-seeded "Doc" Miller, winning 6-3, 6-4. Joining Aldinger and defending champion Ted Smythe in the "fours" were fourth-seeded Bill Sparling, with a 6-4, 6-1 victory over junior John Fraser, and Gordon Hartley.

Hartley's match against Ed Hedley turned into just the marathon the winner favors Wednesday as he held on to outlast Hedley, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3 in one of the closest and best-fought matches of the tourney so far.

Among the women, Maureen Bray, as expected, advanced with little trouble in the singles, beating down Ann Netherby 6-2, 7-5 to reach the semi-finals. She was joined by junior Diana Lawrence, who beat Vivien Wilkinson 6-3, 7-5.

Tonight's draw follows:

5-30 Bill Sparling vs. Gordon Hartley; Maureen Bray vs. Wendy Cox; Dunbar vs. Bill McCormick vs. D. MacKenzie; Maureen vs. Lawrence.

7-00 Parker and Sparling vs. Smythe and Fraser; Lawrence and Bray vs. Gurnes and Schmidt; J. Harrison vs. J. Wason; J. Wason vs. J. Todd; J. Parry and Aldinger vs. winners of Cox and Hedley and Gardner and Cook.

NATURALLY, IT'S LONG — EVEN FOR KILLEBREW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators' Harmon Killebrew, the American League home run leader, has had a street named for him. In a new housing development at nearby Springfield, Va., it's called Killebrew drive. "Naturally," said a spokesman for the builders, "it's a long drive."

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

If you see a skin diver wearing a colored top-piece on the hood of a sponge neoprene "wet" suit, don't imagine he has an idea that the plume-like adornment will give him the dashing appearance of a knight in black armor.

The truth is that he adds the splash of color because he's afraid—not of anything under water, but of people.

When he's wearing a glistening dark suit covering all but his hands and face, a diver can be mistaken for a seal or sea lion when he first surfaces. This causes him no concern while splashing around populated areas.

But in out-of-the-way places, it's a different story. Men accustomed to the wide-open spaces are inclined to have rifles handy and to many, seals, sea lions and sharks are always fair game.

Divers who had gone exploring in remote waters claim that they mostly fear commercial fishermen, some of whom have a habit of blasting at any swimming critter that looks likely to prey on salmon or tear nets.

Whether or not there is solid fact behind the belief that people can be dangerous, the sport of skin diving is growing up in this area. Divers are turning up in strange places and a fellow never knows when he'll bump into his neighbor over an underwater reef on a sunny Sunday.

But aside from the fact that the skin and scuba-diving ranks are growing at an amazing rate—there are now about 5,000,000 divers in the U.S. and about 500 in this area—the sport here is maturing because more and more addicts are discovering that chasing fish is only a minor part of underwater pleasure.

Lots to Do and Plenty to See

Most of the swim-fish clan got the diving bug because of possible thrills in spear-fishing. Some quickly became bored with firing spears at fish from ranges of four to 12 feet and are now directing their energies into shell-collecting, underwater photography and just plain exploring and being continually amazed by wonders of the sea.

Whatever your choice, diving can be fun for young and old as long as normal precautions are observed.

It is probably only natural that diving is booming now that improved equipment has made it possible for swimmers to keep warm in cold water and to stay under for long periods. Man is an inquisitive creature and the sea contains the last unexplored frontiers of the world.

All that is needed to start sub-surface exploring is a face mask, a pair of swim fins and a snorkel tube. The mask is the most important piece of equipment. Without one, everything is a watery blur. Attached to the feet, the fins are like an underwater engine, propelling a diver at fair speed with little effort. The snorkel is a short breathing tube that allows a swimmer to stay just below the surface.

That will get you started for a few dollars and if you want to stay in the briny for long periods, you'll want a suit to keep you warm. The most popular is the "wet" suit, tailor-made for about $70 and up and which fits over either your birthday suit or an ordinary swimming outfit.

Then, if you are going into scuba diving—the letters SCUBA are an abbreviation for "self-contained underwater breathing apparatus"—you'll want a few other items. The main ones are a tank for packing compressed air, air tubes attaching to a mouthpiece into which you'll breathe, and a regulator that releases air at reduced pressure. And you might as well toss in a weighted belt, which will get you down into deep water faster and help neutralize your buoyancy.

That's about all you'll need, except swimming ability, freedom from sinus or similar troubles, and knowledge of what to expect from your body and your equipment. The big danger of diving is ignorance and only a fool will head for deep water without seeking advice from an experienced diver.

It's Fun to Rustle Up Own Grub

What is the pleasure in diving? Daryl Foster, one of the dozens of recent converts to the swim-fish and face-mask brigade, wasn't quite satisfied that he could really explain the appeal of the reefs. But the 24-year-old enthusiast must have come close to it.

"It's just like being in a new world," he says. "Every time I go under water I see something new."

"Although I sometimes get a kick out of trying to spear a bigger fish and enjoy the thrill of competitions, I can really relax and forget any troubles when I'm under water."

"And I must admit I like the good eating," says Daryl, who has been dining regularly on fish, scallops, abalone, oysters, clams and octopus, and who claims even things like sea cucumbers can be prepared for the table.

Daryl, a member of Victoria Skindivers, one of two Victoria diving clubs, is particularly interested in competitive spear-fishing these days. The reason is that he is beating the drums for the Skindivers' second annual competition meet and treasure hunt.

That outing is scheduled for July 12 off the Victoria Breakwater, which has been labelled the "best diving grounds in the Pacific Northwest." The meet will include a fishing competition for two-man teams, a paddleboard race and a treasure hunt, and is expected to attract about 100 contestants, including divers from Vancouver, Washington and Oregon.

It promises to be quite a show and should be worth a walk along the Breakwater on that particular Sunday.

Evcoes Hoping Taffy Can Ignite Fireworks

TIME OUT! TUFF KATE

"I beat Fred at tennis last month!"

One way or another, coach Willie Hamilton is determined to come up with a winning combination for his Victoria Evcoes of the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Hamilton evoked the ball rolling Wednesday with the signing of Taffy Jones to bolster a Victoria forward wall that has scored only one goal in its last three outings.

Jones, who played during the winter for Canadian Scottish of the Victoria and District League, is a versatile performer, equally happy at right half or inside right.

To keep the team within the mandatory 16-man limit, Hamilton temporarily removed substitute centre forward Bill Ackincklose from the roster to accommodate Jones.

"It's just a start," claimed Hamilton. "Unless the team comes up with some sharp scoring and winning efforts, there're going to be more changes yet."

DOW TALKS GOLF... No. 26

Watch for 'Shine'

This is the 26th of an instructional golf series, written for NEA Service and The Daily Times by Dow Finsterwald, U.S. Professional Golfer's Association champion who finished in the money in 72 consecutive tournaments. The series is designed to help the average golfer improve his game.

By DOW FINSTERWALD

As Ben Hogan pointed out, reading the green is like understanding the fine type in a contract.

"A golfer can lose strokes by not making a close study of the greens and that costs a professional money on the circuit."

If you see a "shine" between the ball and the cup you know the grain of the grass is with you and the putt will be faster.

If upon sizing up the green from a 90-degree angle to the left of the line you observe this shine, you know the grain will carry the ball off line to the right.

This is why top players study a putt from the side as well as from in back of the ball.

When the green appears darker, you know the grain of the grass is against you and you must allow accordingly.

The best putting stroke is of little avail if you fail to reckon with the grain.

NEXT: The best missed putt is the one nearest the hole.

"I feel badly about it because he has only 28 days to go before he will become a 10-year man under the pension plan," Bavasi said.

Who's Interested In a Good Horse?

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Fred Turner Jr., boiling over a disputed jockey assignment, said Wednesday he's going to sell Kentucky Derby winner Tomy Lee and the rest of his stable and get out of racing.

Tomy Lee, he said, will be sold privately or to a syndicate. The rest he'll sell at auction.

Turner, tremendously upset, flew here from Texas Tuesday after Tomy Lee ran out of the money in last Saturday's Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park. He thought he had made a commitment for Willie Shoemaker to ride his

SIX HORSES PERISH IN BLAZE

Irresponsible Smoker?

TORONTO (CP)—A smoldering cigaret butt carelessly thrown near the stables of Old Woodbine race track in east Toronto Wednesday night sparked an inferno that killed four thoroughbreds and severely burned two others.

The fire department determined the cause of the blaze early this morning, but could not give an estimate of the damage.

Police said three horses were found dead shortly after the blaze began. Later a charred body was found and two other horses had to be condemned by a veterinarian.

A mascot goat also died in the blaze.

Track officials said approximately 200 horses valued at more than $600,000 were stabled at Old Woodbine. The overflow from the race meeting at New Woodbine in suburban Malton, they were to have been moved there and to the Fort Erie, Ont., course by Monday.

Only the one frame structure was burned to the ground as 40 stable boys formed a bucket brigade to wet down the roofs of the other barns and stop the flames from spreading.

The fire raced the length of the stable and trapped the five horses before grooms, trainers and stable hands could set them free.

Tug Boat Owners Unhappy With B.C. Rescue Setup

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city's tugboat operators have expressed dissatisfaction in the operation of British Columbia's rescue set-up, it was learned Wednesday.

Meeting in secret Tuesday, the 450 operators considered separation from the rescue organization but decided to remain on the job until they determine the action the federal government takes to reorganize RCAF search and rescue operations here.

The meeting was called so the tugboat men could make reorganization proposals to Ottawa.

The tugboats are controlled in rescue work by the RCAF, but one source at Tuesday's meeting said operators are refusing to answer calls by the Air Force rescue controller for their locations at sea.

It was disclosed the tugboat men would oppose a hinted proposal from Ottawa to bring rescue under the Royal Canadian Navy.

But the same sources said if there is to be a switch in command, the RCMP is favored.

John Taylor, Conservative member of Parliament for Vancouver Burrard, who attended the meeting, said: "What we need in Vancouver Harbor to handle emergencies is another fast, shallow draught fireboat, equipped with skin-diving gear."

He said the fireboat should be bought and operated by the National Harbors Board since it would operate outside the Vancouver city limits.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES . . .

The British Columbia Teachers' Federation offers congratulations to this month's high school graduates. Teachers are proud of the students graduating from our schools.

As graduates of an educational system which is one of the finest, our boys and girls have received the grounding necessary to prepare them to meet the challenges of further study or immediate employment. Never has the need for teachers been greater. When they choose their vocation, we hope many of this year's graduates will decide to enter the teaching profession.

1. Why has the Real Estate Board done this?
2. Has this body the right to influence your vote?
3. Are you satisfied that zoning and building restrictions will be high enough to protect your biggest investment—your homes?
4. Will your property be too heavily burdened with taxes?
5. Will you be able to pay for further necessary local improvements in the next 25 years?
6. Why is the ratepayer asked to pay for this scheme on the basis of land value only and not on a more equitable basis?
7. Will stage No. 2 of the sewer be completed in your area?
8. Will you be left paying for a sewer you cannot use?
9. How will secession affect the sewer system?
10. Do you want your "country atmosphere" ruined by overcrowding?
11. Will the lack of sewers really affect your health if overcrowding is prohibited?
12. Why is the Saanich Council so anxious to carry this By-Law?

de Valera Ready To Step Up

DUBLIN (AP)—The Irish won't know until tonight whether they elected Eamon de Valera to be their next president, but de Valera showed no doubt of the outcome.

Counting of the ballots from Wednesday's presidential election did not begin until today. Meanwhile, de Valera, who was heavily favored to defeat Gen. Sean MacEoin, resigned Wednesday night as prime minister.

President Sean T. O'Kelly, who has served the legal limit of 14 years, asked de Valera to continue at the head of the government until a successor is named.

The new prime minister is expected to be Sean Lemass, scheduled to succeed de Valera as head of the majority Finna Fail party. The Irish presidency is a ceremonial post and above politics.

LOGGER KILLED

VERNON — Clarence Wolgram, 47, was killed Tuesday at Harris Creek near Lumby, about 65 miles west of here, when he was struck by a falling tree. Wolgram, father of three children, was helping to clear the bush when a bulldozer pushed the tree over on him.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Clerk Jailed For Pilfering

PENTICTON — Clifford James Petrie, 32-year-old accountant convicted of fraud in police court here, was sentenced today to 18 months in Oakalla Prison Farm in Burnaby.

"I tried to buy happiness, but it can't be done," said Petrie, admitting theft of $6,324.18 from the Oliver Chemical Company.

He had been an employee of the firm since 1951, at different times being in charge of purchasing, selling and book-keeping. Petrie blamed the start of the stealing on his domestic troubles.

J. S. Aikins, crown counsel, told the court Petrie stole the monies by a "very obvious method."

"It was one of his duties to bank monies received at the company office. He just did not make full deposits of the cash," he said.

MOUNTIE DIES

GRAND FORKS—Sergeant Fred H. Steele, 58, one of the West Kootenay's most popular policemen, died suddenly here Wednesday. Sgt. Steele was a former chief constable with Trail city police.

CHANT REPORT DELAYED

VANCOUVER — The Chant royal commission on education in British Columbia, sifting through a mountain of information, does not expect to be able to make its report to the government until early next year.

Originally chairman Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of B.C. had hoped to make his report in December. Dean Chant says the year-old three-man commission received 3,500,000 words in briefs which ended in May.

Coupled with surveys, research projects, questionnaires and literature on national education trends the total material under study is something in excess of 10,000,000 words.

FARM INCOME UP

VANCOUVER—The British Columbia Federation of Agriculture reports farmers' cash income in the province showed a gain of 5 per cent last year over 1957, with totals for the two years $119,200,000 and $113,500,000.

Cattle showed the greatest gain, 30 per cent, vegetables the greatest decline, 6 per cent, followed by fruit, 3 per cent.

VICTORIA SENIOR CITIZENS' HOUSING SOCIETY INC.

This society was formed as a non-denominational, non-political, non-sectarian organization in May, 1956, for the express purpose of providing low-rent accommodation for single citizens of Greater-Victoria. The original Board of Directors was comprised of dedicated, interested people from all walks of life, with a concerted thought in mind; to provide living accommodation for those citizens who were in the greatest need of decent, adequate housing.

The efforts of this group became a reality when Banfield Lodge was started.

The requirements now are to raise the necessary monies to complete the present project and commence plans for a similar building to meet the ever increasing need for low cost housing.

When the canvasser calls on Tuesday, June 23rd, make your contribution as large as possible for the need is great today and becoming greater in the future.

Hundreds Barred In Saanich Vote

People who have moved into Saanich since last Sept. 30 are not eligible to vote in the by-election Saturday.

The same applies to people who bought property in the Shelbourne-Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay districts where voting will take place on the $1,066,000 sewer bylaw.

Municipal clerk Gordon Hayward said the new residents won't be able to vote until they get their names on the voters' list which is only made up in September.

"According to the Municipal Act it is impossible for them to get their names on the list until then," he explained. "There's nothing council can do about the matter."

300 BARRED

The ruling is expected to bar between 300 and 400 new residents, mostly living in the Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay districts, from voting for one of seven candidates seeking election on a council seat left vacant by the resignation of Coun. Charles Nelles.

It is also expected to affect the vote on the sewer bylaw as ratepayers are almost equally divided on the project. New property owners on the whole favor the sewer scheme which will cover an area larger than Oak Bay and eliminate drainage and septic tank problems in many new and old subdivisions.

HIGH-SPEED TORPEDO 'TAKES ORDERS'

SEATTLE (AP)—An electronic high speed torpedo which chases deep-diving enemy submarines is being tested at the Navy's Dabob Bay tracking range in Puget Sound.

The torpedo, 20 feet long and weighing more than a ton, has been named "Astor"—for anti-submarine torpedo.

A thin strand of wire, laid out as the torpedo streaks through the water, carries "orders" for direction changes. Capt. Moore said the torpedo is faster and has a greater range than any other underwater weapon. Conventional torpedoes have a range of eight miles.

Polls will be open Saturday between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Polling stations will be located in the same places as in last December's municipal elections.

Locations of polling stations are as follows: ECF Hall, Douglas Street; Gordon Head Community Hall, Tyndall Avenue; Hampton Hall, Hampton Road; Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall, Quadra Street; Lansdowne Junior High School, Lansdowne Road; McMoran's, Cordova Bay Road; Marigold Scout Hall, Marigold Road; Prospect Lake School, West Saanich Road; Mount View High School, Carey Road; Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, West Saanich Road; St. George the Martyr Hall, Maynard Street; St. Luke's Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road, and St. Martin's-in-the-Field Hall, Obed Avenue.

SPECIAL AWARD for educational leadership will go this year to Dr. Harold L. Campbell of Victoria, superintendent of Canadian schools in Europe and former deputy minister of education in B.C. Award, in the form of a painting by a Canadian artist, is sponsored by the Canadian Education Association.

INDUSTRY STARTS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

61 Killed by Plastic Bags

NEW YORK (AP)—Makers of plastic materials, in co-operation with others, have launched a country-wide advertising campaign to warn of the dangers of improper use of one of their own products—plastic bags.

The move came with the disclosure that 61 deaths in the United States so far this year could be attributed to plastic bag asphyxiation.

William T. Cruse, executive vice-president of the Society of the Plastics Industry Incorporated, told a press conference the campaign would be intensive—in newspapers and on the air—for the next six weeks. "Our aim is not to have one more death through ignorance," he said.

The campaign is being undertaken in co-operation with the National Safety Council, the United States department of health, education and welfare and other groups.

Most of the deaths have come when the bags were used as crib and pillow covering for infants.

They get the thin plastic against their mouths and nostrils, and the suction prevents their removing it.

'DISTURBED' GOVERNOR TO RUN STATE FROM BED

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long of Louisiana flew back to his home state from a Texas mental clinic Wednesday night with firm intention of assuming his duties as governor, apparently from his bed in Ochsner Foundation Hospital.

Just before he took off from Galveston, Tex., Long nodded when a reporter asked him if he intended taking over the powers of his office once he returned to Louisiana. "Yes, I will that," he said.

PAINTINGS COULD BE GENUINE, SAYS GALLERY CURATOR

Van Gogh Style—But Can't Be Sure

Three old paintings brought to Vancouver Island, recently by Dutch immigrant S. G. de Groot have "a force and style" which could be the work of Vincent Van Gogh, master 19th century artist.

Colin Graham, curator at Victoria Art Gallery, gave this opinion today after examining three canvases which Mr. de Groot took to the gallery from his home at Metchosin.

Mr. de Groot is convinced the paintings are genuine Van Goghs but suggested Mr. Graham should examine them because of the "natural scepticism" which always arises where art masterpieces are concerned.

CAN'T BE SURE

Mr. Graham said the works could not be authenticated here without scientific examination of the paint and canvas and no such facilities exist in Western Canada.

"I can only say that the paint and the canvases appear to belong to Van Gogh's period (1853-1890), and my opinion is that, if Van Gogh painted them, he did so during the earlier part of his career—before he came under the influence of the French Impressionist school."

Ganges Principal Named Indian Schools Chief

GANGES — John Lawrance, who resigned as principal of Salt Spring Elementary-Senior High School, has accepted a post as district supervisor of Vancouver Island Indian schools for the federal government.

His headquarters will be in Alberni, and he will be responsible for the Island south of Comox, including the west coast. He is one of four supervisors recently appointed by the federal government. Others will be stationed at Kamloops, Prince Rupert and Vanderhoof.

Mr. Lawrance's resignation followed a decision of the school board to extend his probationary period another year for a total of 18 months, which he said showed a lack of confidence in his abilities.

Three trustees of Salt Spring School District 64 board of trustees, including the chairman, A. D. Dane, resigned in protest against the action taken in regard to Mr. Lawrance.

Ratepayers' meetings will be held at Ganges June 25 and Fulford June 29 to elect new trustees.

'Royal Commission Regime' Alarms Opposition Leader

CHEMAINUS—CCF leader Robert Strachan said here he was "shocked" at the number of royal commissions set up by the Social Credit government.

He told Chemainus Chamber of Commerce in a review of the last session of the B.C. legislature:

"I was shocked... to find out how many sections of our economy apparently require investigation by royal commissions.

"I don't know whether this means you are getting good government or that we are in trouble or not," he said. But the number of probes sitting, or being set up, worried him.

Mr. Strachan said he had been impressed with the great number of valuable briefs presented to MLAs during the last session. "I still get a little disturbed, however, every time the premier calls the sponsors of these well-researched briefs, 'pressure groups.' It is the age-old right of the people to submit their opinions to their elected members."

Of the 109 bills passed at the last session, 104 went through unanimously. "Although you sometimes might get the idea that as leader of the opposition I oppose everything, I personally voted against only four bills."

The CCF leader said Bill 43 is "something we neither need nor want in this province."

The bill, which he said is designed to restrict trade unions, was the result of a feeling in B.C. that trade unions were above and beyond the law, that they had become too powerful and should be chopped down to size. "No one has defined what too powerful means, but many of the accusations and charges made against labor have been based on complete ignorance of facts."

Some of the charges hurled at labor, he said, stemmed from the MacLellan committee investigations in the United States. Mr. Strachan said that after two years and much publicity, the MacLellan committee had only been able to find some evidence of wrongdoing on the part of 43 union officers out of a total of more than 4,000.

The idea that prior to the passing of Bill 43 that trade unions could not be sued was incorrect. Mr. Strachan cited two instances in which unions, one a Victoria carpenters' local, had in fact been sued.

During the last session, the government had also introduced a bill forbidding picketing of government property. "The government, however," he said, "saw fit to ignore the long sequence of events from 1952 to 1959 during which civil servants sought to achieve bargaining rights."

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Strachan noted that the Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce had refused to take a stand on Bill 43 and that he understood the Chemainus chamber had placed itself in a similar position.

"The prosperity of local businessmen is dependent upon the ability of the industrial worker to spend. I think that businessmen of communities like this must identify themselves with the work force. You need labor every bit as much as they need you."

SORRY, NO MONEY

E and N Can't Pay For Royal Clean-Up

(From Duncan Bureau) CHEMAINUS—The E & N Railway cannot afford to paint its station here for the royal visit, it has informed the chamber of commerce.

The chamber had written to the E & N superintendent in Victoria, advising that it was sponsoring a "clean-up, paint-up" campaign in the downtown business area in anticipation of the royal visit July 16. In the letter, the chamber pointed out that the royal couple would be passing the E & N station twice during their two-hour stay in Chemainus and asked if some provision could be made for "sprucing up" the outside of the ancient wooden structure.

The superintendent wrote back that the E & N's operating budget had been drastically reduced and that it might be difficult to work the item into their expenses. However, he added that the request would be taken into consideration and if possible, the work carried out.

LAKE COWICHAN COLLISION

Services Open Today For 2 Crash Victims

DUNCAN—Prayers will be said at Hirst Funeral Chapel tonight at 8 for Mrs. Agnes M. Hughes, 35, and her three-year-old daughter, Lorretta Ann, killed in a truck-car collision near Lake Cowichan Tuesday.

This will be followed by requiem mass at St. Edward's Catholic Church Friday morning at 10. Father M. Reeves will officiate with burial at St. Ann's Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Hughes was born Aug. 6, 1923, at Bursé, Belgium. Married in Belgium in 1945, she had resided at Lake Cowichan for the past 13 years. She is survived by her husband, William; three children, Alphonse, Louise and Michael; four sisters and two brothers in Belgium. Loretta was born Jan. 26, 1956, at Duncan.

Funeral services for the third victim of the tragic accident, Charles F. Fisher, about 80, will be held from Hirst Funeral Chapel Saturday morning with burial at Mountain View cemetery. A son of the dead man is on his way from Regina to complete arrangements for the burial. He is expected to arrive here Friday.

An inquest into the triple fatality opened in Duncan Wednesday with swearing of a jury and viewing remains of victims, then was adjourned pending setting of a definite date by Dr. E. M. Gee, Lake Cowichan coroner. It will reconvene at Lake Cowichan.

NANAIMO (CP) — City council has decided to request a meeting with Recreation and Conservation Minister Westwood to discuss development of Newcastle Island in Nanaimo harbor as a provincial park.

Strong Case Planned For Big Breakwater

(From Duncan Bureau) CHEMAINUS—Chamber of Commerce brief to the federal government asking for construction of a $120,000 breakwater here has impressive figures to justify the project, according to Reg Harwood, who is helping in its preparation.

He said assets on the harbor are valued at more than $18,000,000.

"Add to this the value of the many big freighters using wharf facilities and the value of export cargoes, and the figure becomes even more impressive," he said.

The first deep-sea ship cleared Chemainus Harbor 99 years ago, and the federal government has been earning fee money ever since, he said. Reports show that in the last four years alone the government has received close to $50,000 in revenue from ships using the harbor.

The figure would indicate, Mr. Harwood said, that Chemainus has every right to ask for and expect a rock-fill breakwater.

Nanaimo Council Supporting Higher Pensions

NANAIMO—A proposal for increased benefits, expected to be made by the Old Age Pensioners' Organization at its Mission convention this week, will have the support of city council here.

Both Ald. Jack Parker and Ald. George Bryce said the present pension makes it difficult for recipients to live according to present standards.

Planners Study Chemainus Boom

CHEMAINUS — A "Community Development Committee" has been set up within the framework of the Chamber of Commerce to plan and promote long-term development here.

Committee chairman R. R. Pattison, Chemainus druggist, told a Chamber of Commerce meeting this week that the committee would investigate the whole field of community development.

"We plan to take a good look at this community's prospects for expansion along all residential, business, and industrial avenues," he said. The committee had great potential and it would be the work of the committee to assess, publicize, and make the best use of this potential.

Mr. Pattison reported G. Thornton Sharp of Crofton, retired architect and town planner, had agreed to serve on the committee. He urged businessmen and all interested individuals to present their views on community expansion to the committee.

NEW PLANT LIKELY "We want to look at this question from all angles. The more ideas and suggestions we get, the better," he said.

A report from chamber's industrial development committee advised that prospects for the construction of a $10,000,000 chemical plant at Crofton looked bright. The plant is expected to have a payroll of 60 men. It was also reported that a large trucking firm now located on the outskirts of Duncan is planning to locate in Chemainus if suitable property can be obtained.

Prior to addressing the chamber on the highlights of the last session of the legislature CCF leader Robert Strachan complimented them on their foresight in setting up a development planning committee.

INDUSTRIAL CENTRE "It is obvious," he said, "that this area has become the industrial centre of this part of the Island."

With the huge Chemainus sawmill and Crofton pulp mill, and the prospects of a chemical plant being built at Crofton, he suggested the time is near when replaceable parts and materials for these industries could be produced right in the area.

"A large part of this manufactured material now has to be transported across the water. I think it is time this part of Vancouver Island had a multiplicity of small industries to produce the parts and pieces required by the various mills," he said.

ISLAND UNDER 'HANDICAP' WITHOUT GAS

NANAIMO (CP) — R. M. Bond, president of Island Transmission Company Ltd., says there will be an "energy handicap" on Vancouver Island until natural gas arrives.

The company is one of several wishing to bring gas to the island.

$1 Purchases Water System At C. Saanich

SAANICHTON — Federal transport department's Elk Lake water system, which includes four miles of 12-inch main and a chlorinating and pumping station, has been bought by Central Saanich municipality for $1.

H. C. Dawson, former Saanich engineer and adviser to the council on water problem, said last November that Elk Lake provides the only long-term solution to the municipality's water problem, and that it should satisfy local needs until 1980.

Council hopes the transport department will include with the system the Stewart well in Mount Newton Valley of 1,200,000 gallons storage capacity, and the line from the well to Patricia Bay Airport.

The system now serves the airport, Dominion Experimental Station, and Brentwood Water District.

'Grandparents Tea' Draws 100 at Duncan

(From Duncan Bureau) More than 100 guests registered at the second Old Age Pensioners' Organization grand. In addition to talents in handicrafts and display of hobbies in the Duncan Eagles' Hall.

Several of the articles on display, made in the OAPO branch hobby shop, will be on sale in the fall at the branch bazaar.

In addition to talents in handicrafts, the branch boasts its own band, directed by Fred Mustchin.

At the tea guests enjoyed the acrobatic dancing of Linda Lloyd and servings of strawberry shortcake and ice cream. Miss Lloyd was given a bouquet by Mrs. Norman Hunter.

Prize-winners were T. Atkinson, A. A. Ashley, Mrs. M. Werk, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Whitman, W. R. Chester, Mrs. Emma Retzler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurgeson, Mrs. Potts and Art Gibbons.

LOCAL BRIEFS

The B.C. government is studying the effect of the recent creation of three 60-mile-per-hour speed zones in the province, and is not immediately planning to add more fast zones, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said Tuesday.

One such zone is located on the highway between Parksville and Port Alberni and two others are on the mainland.

The winners of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club, mixed pairs championship were:

Marjorie Beal and Dick Lipsey; Irene Abels and Les Stewart; Ida Druce and Gordon Roger; Eva Hemmons and George Beal; Audrey and Bert Jorgensen; Lil Waite and Doug Hawkes; Phyl Hargel and Elwood Sandhu; Hilda Price and Frank Arlett.

The June meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors is set for Wednesday, June 24, at 12:15 p.m., at the James Bay Hotel. Special guest will be A. C. Ashforth, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank. He will be visiting Victoria in connection with a National Gas Association convention.

$2M Needed To Improve Cemetery

It would take a fund of $2,000,000 to renovate Ross Bay Cemetery and to maintain it for perpetuity, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot told a meeting Wednesday called to discuss ways and means of improving the burial ground.

The meeting was attended by representatives of churches, which hold portions of the cemetery, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire which looks after the graves of veterans, and the Public Utilities Commission which regulates cemetery operations.

Ald. Proudfoot said while there was little likelihood of raising such a fund, he felt that various organizations could help in maintaining the cemetery.

He received assurance from church representatives that they would assist in setting up a long-term program to rehabilitate and improve the cemetery.

Representatives also agreed to meet again at the end of September to discuss maintenance plans.

Ald. Proudfoot said while the city had control of the cemetery, the moral responsibility for its upkeep and maintenance lay with the licensed holders of the plots.

"The city won't spend a cent more on the cemetery," he said. "It hasn't got the money."

He suggested the various churches look after their plots which take up about half of the cemetery.

He also felt that some owners of privately-owned plots could do more for the maintenance of the burial ground.

Mrs. Owen Fowler, representing the IODE, said her organization would take steps to see if additional funds could be raised to maintain war veterans' graves.

The IODE received a grant of about $100 a year from the Imperial War Graves Commission to maintain about 60 graves, she said.

Very Rev. Father G. O. Penfold, representing the Catholic Church, agreed that something would have to be done, but requested time to discuss the matter first with his parishioners.

Big Hotel for London

LONDON (Reuters) — A plan by American hotel magnate Conrad Hilton and British financier Charles Clore to build a Y-shaped skyscraper hotel in Park Lane was given conditional approval Tuesday by the London county council. The luxury hotel will have 506 bedrooms on 23 floors. Two earlier designs had been turned down.

Ex-reeve Joseph Casey delivered a scathing attack on the administrative policies of Saanich reeve George Chatterton at a by-election meeting in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall Wednesday.

Mr. Casey, one of seven seeking election to a single vacant council seat Saturday, opposed Saanich town planning policies, described the proposed sewer bylaw as "ill-conceived" and spoke against the strict supervision of building regulations.

He also criticized the addition to the Royal Oak Municipal Hall built to save construction of a new building.

"I would have built a new hall instead of an addition," he said.

Mr. Casey advocated a return to his policies when he served as reeve preceding the year 1955—prior to his defeat at the polls by former reeve Arthur Ash.

"There hasn't been a single big commercial development since I left council," he said. "All the big super-markets came in my time."

But Reeve Chatterton's administrative policies were championed by some of the candidates contesting the council seat.

Candidate Albert W. Reid, retired publisher, described Mr. Casey's outlook on the affairs of Saanich as "somewhat pessimistic."

"I feel council is doing its best for Saanich," he said. "They are putting plenty of elbow grease in their work."

"Furthermore, I'm strongly against provincial or federal politics entering the field of municipal affairs," he said.

One of the main planks of Mr. Reid's campaign is a fairer method of assessing older homes.

'Unscrupulous Promoters' Kept Out

Kenneth S. Price, a contractor, strongly supported the present policies of council.

"While I don't agree with all that has been done," he said, "I feel Saanich has progressed more in the last year than in the previous five, maybe more."

He said he favored council's subdivision controls as they were aimed to protect prospective home owners from unscrupulous promoters.

"I'm in favor of the present policy of the subdividing being required to install surfaced roads, water mains, necessary drainage and sewer laterals as these are essential services," he said.

"The cost of these services prevents the wholesale development of land by unscrupulous promoters who have no consideration for the future taxpayer," he added.

"Under this policy, taxes in a new subdivision are at a minimum."

He said council's new subdivision bylaw had eliminated sprawl and permitted concentrated development, which was more economical to service.

Avoid Gas Stations at Every Corner

Vincent H. Clement, an assessor, said he fully supported orderly planning of the municipality.

He said he favored planning policies which prevented the construction of gas stations at every corner or rows of service stations in one block.

Planning was essential, he said, for efficient transportation.

"In England where cities were developed years ago without planning it takes you hours to go places."

Robert J. Fleming, an ex-councillor, said he stood for stricter planning and zoning regulations to protect the property values of home owners.

He advocated a larger planning staff.

George Kelman, plumber, aligned himself on the side of Mr. Casey.

He charged that the present method of installing plumbing in Saanich was illegal or contrary to law, and the inspection was inadequate.

"As for the sewers, I object to the method as it is being planned," he said. "I would vote no."

Gregory Cook, school teacher, favored appointment of a municipal manager to run the affairs of Saanich.

He also stood for a fairer method of assessing homes and properties.

Rate Boost 'Vindicates Briggs'

A B.C. Power Commission announcement that a 14 per cent increase in residential power rates would be effected this July was described by CCF Leader Robert Strachan Wednesday as a vindication of H. Lee Briggs, former BCPC general manager.

Mr. Strachan said "the action of the Shrum Commission, and the provincial government in its budget this year, indicates Mr. Briggs was correct in his statement that the BCPC would require additional revenue this year."

He recalled that the legislature passed a $100,000 subsidy payment in the budget for the BCPC. He added to it the $80,000 revenue anticipated from the new rate adjustments. "This makes possible an additional revenue of $180,000," said Mr. Strachan.

Mr. Briggs was fired last year after speaking out against BCPC financing as required by the provincial government. He warned that additional revenues would be required to avoid a serious deficit, but Premier Bennett denied the statement.

U.S. Engineers Ask Joint Damage Survey

Wait for Canada On Ship Incident

The next step in the "Columbia River incident" involving six Esquimalt-based destroyers awaits a joint survey of damage by Canadian and U.S. authorities. Damage to dikes and shore installations was caused when units of the Second Canadian escort squadron steamed up the Columbia last week bound for the Portland Rose Festival.

A spokesman for the U.S. Army Engineers, Portland District, told The Times today the engineers "are waiting for the Canadian government to contact us with a view to a joint survey of damage."

Reports from Portland last week said several hundred feet of dike had been washed out by wakes set up by the destroyers.

Threats of lawsuits from farmers along the bank of the river were also reported in Portland papers, but the Army Engineers spokesman said today he had no knowledge of any impending legal action.

The engineers are responsible for navigable rivers in the United States. In Victoria, Wednesday, Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, authorized a non-committal statement on the incident.

The official navy statement:

"The Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, has received a report from the commander, 2nd Canadian Escort Squadron, which indicates that all reasonable seamanlike precautions for safe and prudent navigation were taken by the captains of the six Canadian destroyer escorts in their passage up the Columbia River to Portland, Ore."

"Every ship carried a Columbia River pilot, whose instructions and advice were followed throughout the passage."

"No further comment can be made until investigations now being conducted by the United States authorities are concluded."

Lake Ontario Conqueror To Try Strait

A Florida distance swimmer who has a Lake Ontario victory to his credit intends to attempt the Victoria - Port Angeles crossing this summer.

Jim Woods, 43, announced today he would leave his Winter Park, Florida home July 1 for a five-day training period in Ontario before coming to Victoria.

He said he would attempt the swim about mid-July, and hopes to set a new record. Present record for the north-south swim is 11 hours 33 minutes, held by Cliff Lumsden. Marilyn Bell made it from Port Angeles to Victoria in 10 hours, 38 minutes.

Mr. Woods made the Lake Ontario swim in 18 hours, 35 minutes, on his seventh attempt.

$6,400 Bid Accepted On Market

Long and involved civic discussions on what to do with the old market building and fire hall appear to have been finally resolved today.

A joint meeting of the city's finance and public works committee decided to have it demolished, accepting the lowest tender received, that of Farmer Construction for $6,400.

This decision must now be ratified by city council. Decision was based mainly on the city engineer's report that the structure was not up to standard.

A proposal from a city real estate firm on behalf of a client to rent the structure was earlier turned down. It would have been used as a wholesale vegetable market.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell pointed out that the city's long-term thinking called for a new city hall, "so I don't think we should dispose of or lease the property."

Who'll Pay For Debt Bonfire?

Government Won't Bear Cost—Bennett

Cost of the Aug. 1 debt-burning celebrations being planned at Kelowna by Premier Bennett will not be borne by the government, he said today.

He was asked in interview why it would be necessary to transport cancelled B.C. bonds from Victoria to Kelowna in an armored car, and who would pay for the service.

"We wouldn't want to risk loss of the bonds. They will be transferred at no cost to the government—and that applies to the whole celebration," he stated.

FIREWORKS

The Premier did not say who would supply the funds for the ceremonies which will include street dancing, fireworks and a floating bonfire of cancelled bonds, on Okanagan Lake.

The ceremony symbolizes the ridding by the government on its seventh anniversary in office, of all its direct debt, the premier says. But opposition leaders of other political parties argue there is $93,000,000 in direct debt remaining but hidden in the accounts. They also state that the almost $500,000,000 in contingent liabilities must be recognized as debt as well, and the premier's celebrations are designed to mislead the people.

Traffic Death Conviction Thrown Out

Conviction of a Vancouver marine pilot on a criminal negligence charge following a fatal traffic accident here has been quashed by B.C. Court of Appeal in Vancouver.

The judge found there was not sufficient evidence to name Capt. Patrick Norman Morrison as the driver of the car which crashed at the intersection of Patricia Bay and Trans-Canada highways last Aug. 21.

Capt. William Ogilvie Boyce was killed in the crash. Capt. Morrison and Capt. John Lewis Daniel were severely injured.

Morrison was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. K. Maclean to six months imprisonment after an Assize Court jury in Victoria returned a conviction.

Union Pacific Railway Official Visits Bennett

The B.C.-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is still not for sale, Premier Bennett said this morning.

He volunteered the comment following a meeting in his office with Union Pacific Railway vice-president Ambrose J. Sitz.

Asked if sale of the railway was proposed by the American railway executive, the premier said he could not comment.

He said the railway company, the Peace River with North Vancouver showed a clear profit of $46,000 in April, after all operating costs and depreciation allowances were deducted.

PRESS IGNORES 'GOOD' LETTERS SAYS PREMIER

Premier Bennett today charged B.C. metropolitan newspapers with refusing to print letters to the editor if they are in support of his government.

He said he had never received so many letters of praise since being in office, as he has recently.

"Letters are pouring in saying how ridiculous are the continued criticisms of Mr. Strachan and Mr. Finlayson." He referred to recent speeches by CCF leader Robert Strachan and Conservative leader Deane Finlayson, belittling the government promise that it will be free of direct debt this year.

The premier said Social Credit Party supporters complain to him, "they send letters to the metro press and they don't print them. I charge the newspapers are not printing the letters of greatest support."

Wider Field Of Junior Sports Urged

A wider program of junior sports in schools and the community generally was proposed today by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

He called for suggestions from the public for increasing participant recreations in B.C. for all residents.

He said in interview "it is ridiculous," if as reported to him, some school boards rule out baseball on their grounds because of window breakages, and that police have been called to chase youngsters playing ball on school grounds on weekends.

He said school board policy should be to encourage more inter-school sports of all kinds. He noted that track and field meets are common, but he felt other sports, such as baseball and football should be placed on an inter-school competition level to a greater degree.

He said that when little league baseballers reached the age of 12 there should be as wide an organization to keep them active in the sport.

Vote Trend Shows IWA Backs Strike

Early returns from the B.C. woodworkers' strike show a large majority of the 27,000 men will favor a walkout, union president Joe Morris said today.

He said voting has already been completed in the International Woodworkers of America's Caguenay local, with a wide margin in favor of a strike.

Meanwhile, Syd Thompson, president of the big Vancouver local, said ballots taken Tuesday and Wednesday "indicate the policy board's recommendation (to strike) will pass with a very high majority."

Results of the unofficial vote are expected June 25. William Fraser, B.C.'s chief conciliation officer, has been appointed to conduct a government-supervised strike ballot June 26.

The union wants another 34 cents an hour on a basic $1.72. The operators offered 7 this year, 5 next year.

'Peace Society' Gets Membership In UN Association

An application from the Peaceful Means Society of Victoria for a sustaining membership in the United Nations Association has been approved by the UN executive.

This was announced by Richard Broughton, 1041 Craigdarroch, at a meeting of the society's board of directors at 870 Old Esquimalt Road, Wednesday night.

The directors approved a letter to British Columbia Health Minister Eric Martin calling attention to recently reported increases in the amount of Strontium-90 in Canadian wheat and flour.

The Victoria Society is supporting the request of an associated Vancouver group for the appointment of a British Columbia legislative committee to study the effects of fall-out, as is now being done in Ontario.

Fine Weather For Few Days Forecast Here

Victoria and southern Vancouver Island can expect continued warm sunny weather for at least two more days, Weatherman Bill Mackie forecast this morning.

A persistent storm centre which has hovered around the coast for several weeks is moving west and nothing worse than a little high cloud is forecast for Friday.

The welcome burst of summer, following a prolonged wet spell, is now in its third day with temperatures expected to reach 75 this afternoon.

68 WEDNESDAY

Temperatures rose to a maximum of 68 degrees at Gonzales Weather Observatory on Wednesday and 63 on Tuesday. The previous high was on June 1 when the temperature climbed to 74.

A year ago today the maximum was 82 rising to 87.3 on July 27.

The current warm spell has boosted strawberry picking, expected to reach its peak next week. Hundreds of pickers, including school children, are on the job and farmers report a good quality crop.

Early maturing hay of good quality apart from some discoloration is now being cut and baled.

Murder Trial Decision On Monday

Murder suspect Ronald W. Webber, 17, was remanded at conclusion of a preliminary hearing in city police court today for committal Monday to a higher court for trial.

He is charged with the May 23 shooting of fire department Lieutenant James C. Luske, 55, at the boy's home, 1417 Camosun, where Luske had lived the past two years.

Final Crown witnesses were heard this morning, fourth day of the hearing which saw four separate trials-within-trials to determine admissibility of statements allegedly made by the accused to police.

Det. Norman Bath said he and Det. Robert Mair searched the house for the bullet which killed Luske, passing through his chest and heart as he stepped through a bedroom door which the accused's mother, Mrs. Alice O. Webber, said he broke open.

The detective said he shook a shirt and sweater hanging in a hallway outside the bedroom. He heard something fall to the floor and Det. Mair picked up a spent bullet, the nose slightly mushroomed.

Det. Mair identified a 22 rifle taken from the scene of the shooting and alleged to be the murder weapon.

A gold identification bracelet was won by 16-year-old Kaydette Sandy Wilson as the most outstanding student in the junior class of No. 89 (Kinsmen) Squadron Air Cadets, RCAF.

The trophy of accomplishment was presented by the parent 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at a ceremony Wednesday.

Last year, about 14,800 B.C. students took the examinations—even though in that and former years many were passed-on recommendation. Examination results are expected about July 26.

Victoria lawyers J. Alan Baker and R. A. B. Wootton, QC, have been returned by acclamation as benchers of the B.C. Law Society for 1959.

VICTORIA'S "wizard of the shooting range," 17-year-old Pat Barclay, 2981 Foul Bay, leaves here tonight at 9:45 on the first leg of his trip to the famed Bisley shoot to be held around mid-July in England. He qualified as one of Canada's top 10 big bore rifle shots at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa last summer, when he had been shooting only two years. He will spend about a month in England.

Two New Judges Approved for B.C. By Senate Group

Provision for two more judges for B.C. Supreme Court is contained in a House of Commons bill approved by the Senate banking committee in Ottawa today.

The bill would raise the number of Supreme Court judges in B.C. to 13.

It also provides for three more Superior Court judges in Quebec and two more in Alberta Supreme Court.

The bill now must return to the Senate for final approval.

When a locomotive hits a car, the car usually disintegrates.

The exception proves the rule.

A CPR locomotive with Oswald Denny, 1033 Oliphant, at the throttle, was in collision with a car while backing up on Store Street Wednesday.

Slight damage only was reported to the rear of the auto, driven by Robert Jolly, 2861 Inlet, which was stopped in the lane of traffic.

Eli H. Plaskett, 55, of Duncan, was fined $25 in city police court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing two jars of jam valued at 80 cents from Garden Produce, 805 Fort, Tuesday evening.

A gold identification bracelet was won by 16-year-old Kaydette Sandy Wilson as the most outstanding student in the junior class of No. 89 (Kinsmen) Squadron Air Cadets, RCAF.

The trophy of accomplishment was presented by the parent 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at a ceremony Wednesday.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Dance Little Ladies... Victoria teacher Wynne Shaw tells me three of her students—Louise Roberts, Sharon Kirk and Dianne Miller—have been awarded scholarships to the Banff School of Fine Arts this summer.

All have won previous honors. Louise Roberts won the B.C. Dance Festival Trophy and the June Roper and Grace Goddard trophies at the B.C. Dance Festival. She also received the Soroptimist Club of Nanaimo Bursary at the Upper Island Music Festival.

Sharon Kirk, another trophy winner, leaves for Winnipeg next week to rehearse with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet Company for a command performance before the Queen and Prince. Philip July 24.

Friends of mine on Menzies were alarmed on receiving a wire from a relative in Vancouver.

"Visit delayed. Busy wrecking store—Auntie."

Visions of Auntie going berserk with an axe haunted this family until finally they put in a long-distance call to Vancouver.

There had been a slight mistake. The wire should have read: "Busy renting store."

At the foot of Ontario Street I noticed a strange faded sign painted on the red brick wall of an old apartment house:

CHEW PAYROLL TOBACCO. Old-timer Bill Hendricks, who lives nearby, tells me "Payroll" has been extinct for nearly half a century. It used to be a popular "chew" in these parts.

In England recently Mrs. Jack Watson of 157 Wellington Avenue visited Ann Hathaway's famous cottage at Shottery near Stratford-on-Avon.

She has now compared the original with the replica of Ann's cottage built by Sam Lane on Lampson Street, Esquimalt.

"It is remarkably accurate," Mrs. Watson said. "They are identical in size and appearance."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Premier Bennett was to leave this afternoon for Vancouver but he would not disclose the reason for his visit.

He said he would not go to Kelowna as has been speculated, to defend his debt policies at a CCF-Liberal-Conservative round table meeting tonight.

A motorcyclist involved in a collision in the 4200 block Shelbourne at noon today was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a broken leg.

Police were not able to identify the rider immediately.

A quick beer eventually cost an Oak Bay man $50 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP Court Wednesday to consuming liquor in a public place.

Roderick Blanchard, 2853 Thompson, said he was at a party at Langford Community Hall, went to a car in the parking lot to get a fresh case of beer and started drinking a bottle on the spot before others in the party started on the case.

The B.C. government practice of holding cabinet meetings in various parts of B.C. will be continued following the visit of the Queen to British Columbia next month," Premier Bennett said today.

He said it is intended to hold meetings at Kitimat and Prince George and four other mainland centres, with a further meeting scheduled at either Campbell River or Courtenay on Vancouver Island, August 18.

Four-year-old Robert Eick, 1331 Pandora, was treated and discharged from Jubilee Hospital after he was cut on the right wrist by a broken window pane at home Wednesday.

Degree of Bachelor of Administration was conferred on Victoria student Robert Dennis Richardson by the University of Oregon at annual commencement exercises Sunday.

Son of Mrs. Lillian Richardson, 2528 Rose Street, he was among over 1,500 students receiving degrees from the college of liberal arts, graduate school, and the professional schools.

The Cymrodorion Welsh Society will hold its monthly meeting in the Professional and Business Women's Hall, 902 Government, on Friday at 8 p.m. Final arrangements will be made for the picnic in July.

Annual meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society will be held at Spencer House, 1951 Cook Street, next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Tiny Fan Keeps You Cool; Makes Dandy Dryer, Too

By PENNY SAVER

Is one of your fondest dreams a home dryer? I know a way you can have one for $7.95. All you have to do is set this small model fan I've found behind a radiator. Put up rack with damp clothes, and turn on the fan. Swoosh! All those clothes will be fluffy dry in no time at all. What's more, they'll be soft and fresh because they've had warm breezes blowing through them.

It leads a double life, this fan. If you're a working gal, chances are you are in a corner of a building that doesn't get much of the balmy, cool air, once summer heat sets in.

Set this pretty, little fan on a corner of the desk. Air will be circulating in seconds. And you will be working at top efficiency, comfortably once again.

Pocket sized (stands just 10 inches high), it's compactly powerful. Blades are completely safe. No worry of tiny fingers getting caught. Plastic material is used for blades—they bend if they encounter any resistance whatsoever.

Price of the tiny wonder is $7.95.

Don't let the little ones out in summer sun without adequate protection for their delicate heads. They need covering during summer even when it's cloudy.

I've found darling little straw hats made just for your sunbables. For the girls—little lightweight straws in bonnet shape. In every color, crown is trimmed with dainty brocade ribbon, that ties under the chin (to keep that hat on, securely). For boys, cooie styles, with lively circle stripes of bright colors. Again, these are made to stay on. Children's straws cost 60 cents.

A game the whole family can enjoy together is lawn croquet. It's perfect for a lazy Sunday afternoon. And it gets everyone outdoors, too.

Four mallets, colored balls, stakes and wickets, all come in a special wooden stand. It's easy and fun to set up. Just a small amount of level lawn will make your "field."

Set costs $1.98, means hours of summer fun for all.

On Etiquette

Anniversary, doesn't exist: My sister and I were married in a double wedding in 1909. Her husband died six months ago and the 50th anniversary date will be in three weeks. I am at a loss to know whether this should be considered my sister's golden anniversary and if I should send a personal gift to her. Or should I omit the gift and send her a note?

Louise

Louise Davis answers: You would be wise not to send a gift to your sister. Anything you might do would be a sad reminder at a time when her spirits need lifting. Actually her 50th wedding anniversary doesn't exist and it would be a fallacy to play "pretend." Because you and your sister were married at a double wedding, you probably would feel compelled to do something rather than let the day go by. In that case, I suppose a note would be in order, but, no matter what you say, it can't very well raise her morale. If you do send a note which won't be easy to write, arrange that your sister receive it before the anniversary day. I presume your sister lives in another city, in which case I suggest a long-distance call to her, and, if you do, it wouldn't be a good idea to dwell on the anniversary or the death. Just remember that emotionally she will be at a low ebb. Give of your strength to pull her up. By evading the subject of your wedding or the anniversary, your sister would instinctively know why you are calling.

DEAR ABBY...

Cool Your Heels, Ma'am

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: On October 10, 1958 I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. I know this girl got the gift because her mother said she did. But as yet I haven't received a thank-you note from the girl.

Her mother said a bride has a year in which to acknowledge her wedding gifts. Is that a fact? This girl had plenty of time before the wedding to sit down and send out over 300 wedding invitations to people all over the country (she didn't know half of them) but she can't find time to thank them for the gifts. What is my next move? MRS. L.

DEAR MRS. L.: The next move is hers, not yours. The well-bred bride acknowledges her wedding gifts within thirty days after she returns from her honeymoon trip.

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to send for your pamphlet on "HOW TO GET BOYS TO NOTICE ME" but my father says too many boys notice me as it is. I am 10 years old but sometimes I pass for 12. Dear Abby, can you help me with my problem? I would like to have boys notice me.

NOT NOTICED DEAR NOT: Girls your age have a lot of time in which to be noticed. Be your sweet 10-year-old self, and let nature take its course.

DEAR ABBY: If those immature parents who squabble over who should meet their son when he comes back from overseas had a real worry, they wouldn't have time to think about such a trivial thing. The important thing is that the boy is coming home. I have two sons overseas. White crosses top the places where they sleep.

Sincerely yours, HATTIE HAMILTON

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment for seven years and we have watched a little golden-haired girl grow up. She is now 18 but is childish in many ways although she is as developed physically as I am.

I work odd hours at the hospital around the corner. Many times I will come home and find this neighbor girl sleeping on our day-bed. She says she is afraid to sleep alone.

My husband is young, good-looking and only human. While I trust him and realize this girl is sweet but simple-minded, how long should I put up with this? I tell my husband it doesn't look right but he kids me out of it. Please advise me. UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Doesn't this "sweet but simple-minded 18-year-old child" have parents? Tell her in words of one syllable that your husband is not a baby-sitter for 18-year-olds and be sure your husband understands that YOU are NOT kidding!

"Why don't my parents trust me?" For What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know, send 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Couple Wed, Living in Victoria

Now making their home in Victoria are Mr. and Mrs. John Harold James who were married recently in St. Mary's Anglican Church.

Rev. H. J. Jones conducted the evening service for the former Miss Joan Dorothea Genge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Genge of Monterey Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. James of St. Charles Street.

Baskets of tulips, stocks and stephanotis banked the chancel and altar.

Miss Genge was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of soft white organdy in floor-length style. Bodice, styled with lily point sleeves and a low round neckline sparkling with mother-of-pearl sequins, extended to a dropped waistline from which the skirt billowed gracefully. Her finger tip veil was held by a crown headpiece.

An aqua tone gown of net with underskirts of taffeta was worn by matron of honor, Mrs. D. Hardie, White Rock, B.C. Her headdress was en tone and she carried a bouquet of salmon toned carnations and stephanotis. Miss Ann Genge, bridesmaid, wore a similar dress in Madrid pink. A floor length frock was worn by Bonnie James, flower girl. Her bandeau was en tone and she carried a miniature bouquet of pink carnations.

Robert Alexander was ring bearer. Bill Grundison was best man, and ushers were Dick James, Sidney Alexander and Bob Ashmore.

A three-tier cake, made by Mrs. Genge, was cut by Mr. and Mrs. James with an heirloom knife belonging to the James family, at a reception in Holyrood House. Max Green proposed the toast.

For a trip to Alberta and the Peace River, the new Mrs. James donned a beige tweed suit and matching accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. New home is suite 302, 548 Bastion Street.

Clues to Gifts

Miss Carole Holden, who is to be married in mid-July, was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. Hicks at her home, 1206 Yates Street. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. D. Holden. Novelty verses in balloons suspended from the ceiling contained clues to hiding places for the gifts. Invited guests were Mrs. A. Skelton, Mrs. James, Mrs. Fleury, Mrs. L. Readman, Miss Peggy Crowell, Mrs. Kay Paterson, Mrs. Porter, Miss Gloria Porter, Mrs. Alan Paterson, Mrs. Jeffries and Mrs. D. Newhook.

Make Home In Metchosin

Making their home at Metchosin are recent newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Alfred Walker. They were married in Centennial United Church by Rev. D. B. Carr. Bride is the former Glenola Marie Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Netherfield of Victoria and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Walker of Colwood.

Mrs. H. Clarke, groom's aunt, was soloist. For her marriage, Miss Netherfield wore a gown of white satin featuring bouffant overskirts of net with lace inserts. A long sleeved lace jacket topped the strapless bodice. Her tiara of pearls and sequins held a floor-length veil. Red roses and stephanotis were in the bridal bouquet which, at the reception was presented to her grandmother.

She was given in marriage by her father.

A gown of blue and net posed over taffeta was worn by matron of honor, Mrs. Billie Kaye. It was topped with a tiny lace jacket. A pink frock was worn by flower girl, Donna Minckler.

Bernard Whitney Griffiths was best man and ushers were Bernard Barber and Russell Minckler.

Jack Major proposed the toast at a reception in Holyrood House. For motoring through Washington and Oregon on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Walker donned a navy lace sheath-style dress. She topped the ensemble with a pink shortie coat and white accessories.

PRINTS FAVORED IN TRAVEL ENSEMBLES

Ensemble worn by Her Majesty the Queen on arrival in Canada this morning was a Norman Hartnell original (sketched at left) with jade and white printed dress styled with pleated skirt and jade green woollen topcoat lined with the same print. Hat, a Claude St. Cyr, was white straw, trimmed with jade green velvet. Leaving London for the Canadian visit, the Queen wore an ink blue and white printed silk dress and full-length printed coat (at right), again a Norman Hartnell original, with a Claude St. Cyr hat of pale grey-blue silk trimmed with black velvet and tulle.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Posture is Important To the Short Girl, Too

I have often said that it seems little short of tragic to me to measure happiness in inches. Yet it is true that many women who are above or below average in height are extremely self-conscious about it. I have written of some of the advantages which the tall girl or woman can enjoy. Today I would like to make some suggestions about the very short woman.

Beautiful posture is important to every woman but especially so to the one who is unusually tall or short. I receive letters from many women who are unhappy about their lack of inches. If you have been careless in the past about your carriage, you actually can add an inch or so to your height by improving it. Not only this but you will give the impression of more height if your posture is queenly. A short woman can look dainty and petite, or she can look like a little old woman much too early in life. This depends to a great extent on the way she carries herself and the grace with which she moves.

As we grow older our spines tend to settle, thus we get "shorter" unless we fight it. Therefore we should begin walking and thinking tall. Stretch your spine all the way by pushing toward the ceiling with the top of your head. Also, here are two stretching exercises.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor. Do not raise head, shoulders, hips or legs from the floor but try to make yourself as long as possible by pushing forward with the legs (push from hips) and back with the head. As you do this try to touch as much of the neck to the floor as possible. Hold while you count to five slowly. Relax. Repeat and continue.

2. Stand facing the wall. Place your fingertips on the wall opposite your bust. Begin moving your fingers up the wall (walking with your fingers). Go as high as you possibly can. Rise high on tip-toes and reach even higher. Feel the stretch? Slowly walk down the wall with your fingers and continue.

If you are short in stature, remember to forget large plaids or prints, round and round stripes, jewelry which is very chunky, and large hats and bags. Do not wear costumes of contrasting colors.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Planning Clothes to Suit Figure and Personality" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 54. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

BLUSHING BERRY TARTS

One cup fresh strawberries, sliced and sweetened, 6 chocolate coconut tart shells, well chilled, 2 cups cold milk, 1 package vanilla instant pudding, dash of salt, sweetened whipped cream.

Place 2 tablespoons of the sliced berries in bottom of each tart shell. Pour milk into mixing bowl. Add pudding mix and salt and beat slowly with egg beater just until well mixed, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat; mixture will be thin. Pour at once, very carefully, over berries in tart shells. Let stand 15 minutes in refrigerator before serving. Garnish with remaining strawberries and the sweetened whipped cream. Makes 6 tarts.

TODAY'S RECIPE

To make chocolate coconut tart shells: Melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter in top of double boiler, stirring until blended. Combine 2 tablespoons hot milk or water and 1/2 cup sifted icing sugar. Add to chocolate mixture, stirring well. Add 1 1/2 cups tender-thin flaked coconut and mix well. Spoon the chocolate-coconut mixture into 6 paper baking cups and press firmly on bottom and up sides. Place in muffin pan and chill until firm. (Do not freeze.) Peel off the paper before filling tart shells.

He Gives Away Grand Prizes

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Duane Wilkum, aged 10, of Milwaukee, Wis., for the question:

How Many Different Insects Are There?

Some 670,000 different insects have been named and classified. Imagine a parade of these small creatures hopping, crawling or flitting past you at the rate of one every six seconds, just long enough for you to get a good look. This parade could go on for longer than 46 days and nights without you seeing the same insect twice. And it would include only those insects so far classified. New ones are being discovered and named at the rate of about 5,000 each year.

The experts who study insects are called entomologists. Some entomologists estimate that so far we have tabbed only a third of the different insects in the world. This estimate would put the total number of different insects at about two million. Other estimates suggest that we have only classified about one-tenth. We cannot give a definite number but we know for certain that there are countless more insects in the world waiting to be classified.

The insects belong in the Arthropoda Phylum of animals—the joint-footed ones. They form the huge class Insecta of this Phylum—the largest of any class of animals. To be classed an insect an animal must have six legs and a segmented body in three clearly defined sections. He must have a head, a chest or thorax and an abdomen. These rules apply only to the adult insect and not to the various caterpillar and pupa stages.

Wings Listed With Care

The huge class Insecta is broken down into 26 orders. The insects in each order have certain features in common which other insects do not have. The name of the order gives a clue to these features. The order Coleoptera means sheath-wings. It is the order of the beetles, whose hard front wings form a sheath over the body. There are a quarter of a million different members of the Coleoptera order.

The order Lepidoptera means the scaly-winged ones. Under the microscope the lovely wings of the moth and the butterfly are seen to be composed of tiny scales. Lepidoptera is their order. The ptera part of this long word means wings and it occurs in several of the insect orders. Dermaptera, meaning skin-wings, is the order of the earwigs and their kin. Diptera, two-wings, is the order of flies. A true fly has but two gauzy flying wings. Grasshoppers, crickets and mantids belong in the Orthoptera, or straight-winged, order.

There are some 7,000 different members of the Lepidoptera order in North America alone. An order is subdivided into families for convenience in classifying. There are 80 family units in Lepidoptera, 75 families of moths and five of butterflies.

When fully classified, each different insect is in his own order, his own family and his own genus. He is then given a species name, an individual name of his own. The house fly is rated in the order Diptera, the family Muscidae and the genus Musca. His species name is domestica and his proper scientific name is Musca domestica.

Russia Will Attend University Parley

IBADAN, Nigeria (Reuters)—Russia will send a delegation for the first time to the annual general meeting of the World Universities Service to be held here next month. It was announced here. The delegation is expected to consist of university professors, lecturers and students.

Bounty for Dogfish

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate commerce committee Wednesday approved a bill to authorize the interior department to pay a bounty to fishermen for dogfish sharks which prey on fish in the Pacific. The bounty would be up to $15 a ton for carcasses and 15 cents a pound for livers.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Hearing that Groucho Marx was staying at a midtown hotel whose name must not be mentioned but begins with A, we phoned to extend our greetings.

He said he was going to be dining at Dinty Moore's. "Could we drop in and say hello?" we inquired humbly. "Providing you say goodbye in the same sentence!" he snapped. Dolores, the beautiful headwaitress at Moore's, bowed us to his table a little later. Groucho was dining with his wife, Eden, and Serge Obolensky, the distinguished hotelier, who by coincidence is associated with a hotel whose name begins with A. Groucho confessed being worried because his daughter just got her report card, and she got a C in sewing. "What if your husband came home with a hole in his pants?" he asked her. "I'd buy him a new pair!" she said.

Sallie Blair figured it out that many a man owes his success to his first wife—and his second wife to his success.

Singer Andy Williams had a big, successful opening at the Copacabana where comedian Joey Bishop was just great, too. Joey said with all the white coats of the prom kids seeing the shows now, "I always feel like I'm just coming out of the ether." Joey claims when shopping for his wife he can't remember measurements, but tries to find somebody shaped like she is. Discovering a real ringer for his wife the other day, Joey went up and said, "Excuse me, sir..."

Kim Novak asked us please to plug the El Toro cafe show starring Lydia Scott (which she watched for hours the other night with Aly Khan). Kim and Marty Goldfarb of Columbia Pix saw "Gypsy" recently—and Kim had to go to the powder room to escape the autograph fans. Trouble with modern autograph fans, they invade the powder room, too.

I CAN'T COME OUT NOW—I HAVE TO TAKE VITAMIN CAPSULE!

I'LL SEE YOU IN ABOUT AN HOUR!

ALLEY OOP

WOULD THIS CURLAW YOU'RE LOOKING FOR BE THE MAN THE INDIANS SAY BULLETS CAN'T KILL?

YES, MABACK, THEY CALL HIM

DO YOU BELIEVE THERE REALLY IS SUCH A MAN?

MUST BE, OOOO, HE'S TERRORIZED TWO TOWNS I KNOW OF

HAS HE KILLED OR ROBBED ANYONE?

I PRESUME SO...HOW ELSE WOULD HE COME BY SUCH A REPUTATION?

BUT YOU DON'T KNOW THAT HE HAS

LEAVE NO... ACTUALLY, I CAN'T SAY THAT I DO

MARK TRAIL

NOW...THAT WAS A LONG 'RIP MARK!'

I THINK IT MAY PAY OFF!

HEY, THERE'S A PLANE COMING—I HOPE IT'S CUSTOMERS!

WELL, EVE... I MUST SAY YOU'VE DISAPPOINTED ME TERRIBLY. PLEASE GET YOUR THINGS TOGETHER, AND CALL YOUR FATHER...WE'RE FLYING HOME NOW!

BE AHEAD NOT—TLL SET IT'S VIVIAN, MY MOTHER!

NEW TV SYSTEM WORKS 'Few Seconds' For Departure

MONTREAL (UPI)—A new development in trans-Atlantic picture transmission today enabled viewers in Canada and the United States to see Queen
Elizabeth's departure from London about two hours after her plane took off for Newfoundland.

The departure was filmed over CBC and NBC facilities.
The program lasted 15 minutes but only a few seconds were devoted to the actual departure of the Queen. Most of the program was devoted to an explanation of the new system.

However, considering the system is in its experimental stages, the transmission was fairly clear with only a slight flicker.

The new system, developed by the BBC, speeds pictures across the Atlantic by under-

40 Seeking Juvenile Home Post

Deadline for applications to fill the vacancy of administrator for Victoria's juvenile detention home is Friday, and more than 40 applicants have applied.

Many of these applying have already been "screened." Ald.
Lily Wilson, chairman of the detention home committee, said today.

"It is a difficult position to fill, and many of those who have applied just aren't suitable for one reason or another; for example, some have children and a detention home would not be a suitable place to raise young children."

The job pays $507 a month for a man-and-wife team.
Meanwhile delay in making an appointment came in for another round of criticism Wednesday from Victoria Labor Council which went on record as "deploring the lack of ability of those who have failed to find a new superintendent."

Thug Dies; Mob Parley Secret Kept

JOHNSON CITY, N.Y. (AP)—
Joseph Barbara, Sr., died Wednesday night, with the secret of the underworld convention at his home in Apalachin still intact.

Barbara, 53, suffered a heart attack prior to the notorious meeting of hoodlums at his palatial home Nov. 14, 1957.
Since then, he had evaded questioning by pleading illness.

Many delegates to the meeting who have been questioned have maintained they visited Barbara only to see "a sick friend."

Investigators have described the gathering as a meeting of the Mafia, an underworld society that originated in Sicily.
News of the "gangland convention" launched a flock of investigations. But jailings and threats of large fines have done nothing to break the secret of the underworld meeting.

Cracker Barrel Cheese is an excellent source of protein

When your recipe calls for 'grated cheddar' be sure... make it Cracker Barrel

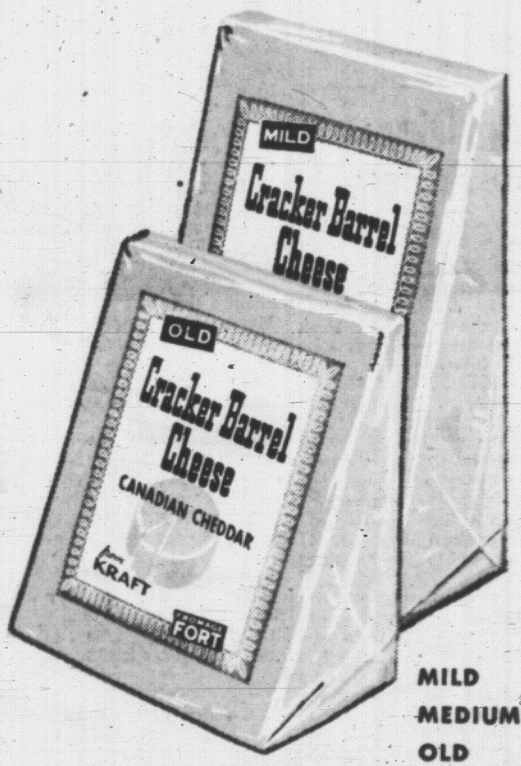

Some cheeses have the kind of ripe, mellow flavor that will cut through other flavors and give food a special, zesty tang. That's the way it is with Cracker Barrel, as many a good cook will tell you.

Cracker Barrel is made from the best cheddars our dairy farms produce. Cheddars that have their rich flavor aged in, so it isn't lost in cooking. And to hold all this flavor, every wedge of Cracker Barrel is sealed in a heavy protective wrap that keeps it, airtight, until the moment you are ready to open it. There's never any rind or dried-out portion to cut off, you enjoy all the cheese you pay for.

Another nice thing, the Cracker Barrel label is clearly marked to help you choose your favorite from Mild, Medium and Old, all in convenient 8 oz. and 12 oz. sizes. Extra Old is also available in 12 oz. packages wrapped in bright red foil. That's why every purchase of Cracker Barrel carries such a wonderful guarantee. Have you read it?

CRACKER BARREL GUARANTEE

If you are not absolutely satisfied in every way with Cracker Barrel Cheese, if you don't agree it is the most delicious cheddar cheese you've ever eaten, just return the label to Kraft Foods Limited, P. O. Box 6118, Montreal 2, Que., and the full purchase price will be refunded. This is our unconditional guarantee.

HELPLESS AGAINST RED JETS

Plane's Guns Disarmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United States Navy patrol plane attacked by Communist MIGs couldn't shoot back because two gun turrets had been disarmed and a communications mixup blocked a fire order to the tail gunner.

This was the gist of a report Wednesday on a hurried investigation made by the navy on orders of President Eisenhower and spurred by outraged cries from Congress.

The navy said the patrol plane's top and forward turrets, mounting pairs of 20-mm. guns, had been "deliberately rendered inoperable" when the craft was converted from anti-submarine tasks to reconnaissance duty.

The preliminary report also said that when the Red jets opened their assault over the Sea of Japan Monday, the pilot and tail gunner tried to talk to each other at the same time, momentarily blocking each other out on the plane's intercom system. By the time contact was restored, the rear turret had been knocked out.

'TRYING TO BYPASS PARLIAMENT

Warning Against Wengren Sounded by Ont. Senator

HALF-DAY HOLIDAY FOR QUEEN

Both Nanaimo and Duncan have declared half-day holidays for Thursday, July 16, to mark the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Nanaimo will celebrate in the morning, and the Duncan holiday will begin at 1 p.m. Only essential services will be carried on in Duncan, said Mayor Jack Dobson.

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Senator David Croll said Wednesday the Wenner-Gren and other power interests in British Columbia are attempting to bypass Parliament in their efforts to preserve the status quo for the export tax on hydro-electric power exports.

He was speaking on a recommendation by the Senate's banking committee that the tax continue to be imposed by cabinet order rather than be incorporated in the Excise Tax Act.

The Torontonians, supported by government leader Walter Aseltine and five other Liberals, said the government wants to put the tax under the control of Parliament. The B.C. power interests wanted the government to continue imposition of the tax by order-in-council because they felt this was the best way to attack the tax and have it abolished.

WOULD BLUNDER

"If we permit Wenner-Gren... to bypass Parliament we will have committed a blunder of the first denomination," Senator Croll said.

The tax on hydro power exports has been imposed by the cabinet since 1925 under the export of power and fluids and the Importation of Gas Act. The government, in an amendment to the Excise Tax Act, now proposes that the tax be incorporated in this statute and thus be brought under the control of Parliament.

Senator Aseltine said power

SENATOR CROLL... 'lock the door' interests made no representations when the amendment to the Excise Tax Act was before the Commons. They voiced their opposition only after the Commons had approved the bill and sent it to the Senate.

The Senate committee, by a vote of 13 to 12, recommended deletion of a clause in the bill that would make the tax subject to parliamentary, instead of cabinet, approval.

Senator Aseltine said representations in favor of this amendment were made by the B.C. Electric Company, the Peace River Development Corporation, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company Limited and representatives of the Quebec and Ontario hydro-electric power commissions.

WANTED TAX ABOLISHED
He said these companies wanted the tax abolished. However, in proposing that the tax should remain under cabinet control and not be given statutory form they "wanted to set up a lobby or something of that sort in an effort to prevail on the cabinet to do away with the tax altogether."

Senator Aseltine said this amounted to bypassing Parliament. It would be a retrograde step for the Senate to approve the recommendation of the power interests.

Senator Croll said the B.C. power interests are merely interested in getting the tax abolished. He described the Wenner-Gren group as "the barefoot millionaires that are coming to this country asking us to do away with the tax on power."

At another point he said Wenner-Gren is a name "that should bring a shudder to all members of a free Parliament." Where the group was involved "we should not relax our guard but we should double lock the door and stuff the keyhole."

ARMY FORCES CHANGES IN ARGENTINA

Plots on Boil in Latin America

By Associated Press
Invasion alarms in Nicaragua, new army pressure in Argentina and prison riots in Havana and Panama have churned up fresh turmoil in Latin America.

Support grew in Buenos Aires today for dissident army groups that already have forced the replacement of Argentina's undersecretary of war by a staunch anti-Peronist.

As President Arturo Frondizi's government entered its third day of crisis, heavily armed units manned all military establishments and fortified the war ministry in Buenos Aires with machine-gun posts.

At least two powerful army garrisons—in Camp de Mayo near Buenos Aires, and at Salta, in northern Argentina—were reported supporting the stand of the Cordoba army command, which forced Col. Manuel R. Raimundez to resign as undersecretary of war.

Raimundez, felt by his fellow officers to be an ultra-nationalist, was replaced by Gen. Rosendo Frago, described as closely linked with the Cordoba group led by Gen. Roberto Grotz.

PERON FACT-RUMORS
Grotz demanded a thorough investigation of a rumored pact between Frondizi and former dictator Juan Peron to ensure Frondizi's election last year. The Cordoba faction also is demanding an end to the government's use of troops and its military powers to block or break strikes on the railways and other key enterprises.

Frondizi has denied any pact with Peron, though the ex-dictator and his supporters claim one was signed. Three bombs exploded in Havana Wednesday night during a television appearance by Prime Minister Fidel Castro. The bombings occurred in areas of the city away from the TV studio.

There were no reports of injuries or damages from the bombings, which were reminiscent of tactics used by Castro's underground during the terrorist campaign in Havana against President Fulgencio Batista.

Castro told his TV audience he would "unmask" elements of the press he accused of campaigning against his government.

Earlier in the week, rioters in Havana's crowded Principe prison took over the prison walls for more than four hours until authorities granted some of their demands.

The rioters were held at bay by police gunfire.

Nicaraguan President Luis Somoza said he had unconfirmed reports of a rebel force of about 50 invaded his country from Honduras. He charged that another group was poised for a strike from Costa Rica.

Somoza said the new invaders apparently landed in Honduras from Cuba. He sent units of the Nicaraguan national guard to the Honduran border to check the reports.

In Colon, Panama, five Cuban prisoners and six guards were injured in what prison authorities termed a mutiny. The Cubans were among 89 invaders imprisoned early in May after the collapse of an expedition to overthrow President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr.

STUDENTS, POLICE CLASH

Paraguayan students clashed with police in Asuncion instead of returning to classes from a two-week holiday imposed by the government. Large groups of girls and boys defied a state order to return to school and fought mounted police who tried to scatter them.

In Tegucigalpa, the Honduran headquarters of the Organization of American States was showered with eggs and avocados by students. An OAS commission had been sent there to investigate the background of recent invasion of Nicaragua.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Cartier's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Cartier's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Cartier's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

Ruling Today On Proof Of Assault

DUNCAN—An application made by Harold Hines, defending Richard Harrington Douglas, who is charged with assault causing bodily harm, will be ruled on today by Judge Arnold Hanna.

Douglas was charged a year ago for his part in a fracas at Chemainus April 13, 1958, when an RCMP officer was severely injured. Mr. Hines has asked that the judge accept proof of conviction against Roger Lampitt, charged jointly with Douglas and two others at that time.

Douglas, a Chemainus man, was found guilty and sentenced, but won an appeal when it was found testimony at his trial had not been transcribed from shorthand by court stenographer Herbert Maisey before his death in January.

Mr. Hines said if his application is accepted, then trial time will be cut in half and the Crown will have to prove only that Douglas "aided and abetted" Lampitt.

IMMEDIATE START

Atomic Plant To Be Built In Ontario

OTHER A-PLANTS FORESEEN

OTTAWA (CP)—The Maritime provinces and Manitoba may be considering the construction of large-scale atomic power stations by the late 1960s, Trade Minister Churchill said today.

He referred to future power requirements in the two areas in announcing to the Commons the early construction in Ontario of an atomic station.

Voting Heavy In Alberta

EDMONTON—Unexpectedly heavy voting was reported from urban centres today as Albertans went to the polls to elect 65 out of 216 candidates for the provincial legislature.

The campaign was quiet and there were no major issues brought out, but perfect weather prevailed and Medicine Hat returning officers said 100 voters showed up in the first half-hour.

Edmonton officials reported a "steady flow" to the polling booths there.

Polls were opened at 8 a.m. and were to close at 8 p.m., Pacific Daylight time.

In power since 1935 the Social Credit government was trying for its seventh consecutive five-year mandate.

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Commons broadcasting committee today shelved by a 125 vote a Liberal proposal that Ontario Premier Leslie Frost be invited to appear and "state his views and grievances against the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation."

MONTREAL (CP)—Al Balding of Markham, Ont., sank a 25-foot putt on the 18th green today to finish with a six-under-par 66 and grab the lead in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship.

Bank Rate Climbs

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate this week increased for the third straight week to 5.43 per cent, the Central Bank reported today.

HERTER'S PLANE READY AS REDS STALL AGAIN

GENEVA (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter summoned his plane from the United States today in a subtle warning against new delaying tactics in the current Big Four talks by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Gromyko apparently was stalling until Premier Nikita Khrushchev can use new Berlin strategy after nearly two weeks of "little summit" talks with leaders of the Communist East German puppet regime.

For the second day running, Gromyko put off his answer to the West's three-day-old compromise plan for Berlin. He asked for and was granted another 24-hour delay in the Big Four secret meeting scheduled for today.

'Fix' Charged In Fish Prices

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 5,000-member United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and four British Columbia fish packing companies have been accused of price-fixing in a report of a combines investigator.

A copy of the report of T. D. MacDonald, director of investigations under the Federal Combines Act, also names the Native Brotherhood of B.C., which represents most Indian fishermen and the fishing vessel owners' Association of B.C.

The report was released to the companies, Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company Ltd., B.C. Packers Ltd., the Canadian Fishing Company, and Nelson Brothers Fisheries Ltd., and the union and associations recently.

TWO MEN NAMED

It names specifically Homer S. Stevens and William Rigby, business agents of the union.

Mr. MacDonald's report, investigation, has been forwarded to the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission which will start hearings on it here Oct. 19.

After the hearings the commission will recommend to the minister of justice whether charges should be laid under the Combines Act.

A Vancouver newspaper today quoted a statement from the minister of justice's office that the "case is far from finished."

"There are many steps to be dealt with yet. The director of investigation may be wrong."

Mr. MacDonald's report says the four companies and the unions and associations acted against the public interest in price fixing activities.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank Thee, our Father, that Jesus Christ, by rising from the tomb, has conquered death and has brought life and immortality to light. He is the Lord of life and death, and in Him we lose all fear of what lies before us, whether it be life or death. Help us to live confidently, one day at a time, inspired by His living presence with us. May we know in full measure the joy of service; and may our state be one of contentment, no matter what the condition may be in which we live, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

Seems that U.S. plane that got shot at off Korea didn't know its gun wasn't loaded.

Takes a royal arrival to remind some that Newfoundland is part of Canada.

Fog Clears For Landing

Massey, Diefenbaker Greet Royal Couple

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The plane carrying the Queen and Prince Philip to Canada landed at Torbay Airport here at 2.50 p.m. ADT (10.50 a.m. PDT), just five hours and 45 minutes after leaving London.

A bright warm sun shone on the city as the royal plane arrived over the airport. But from the airport tower wreaths of fog could be seen hanging menacingly over the rocky Newfoundland coast a few miles away.

Until a few hours earlier the fog threatened to keep the big Comet jet airliner from landing here. For a while a diversion to Argentina, 90 miles away, appeared likely.

Governor-General Massey and Prime Minister Diefenbaker were on hand to greet the royal couple. The prime minister's plane arrived while the royal aircraft was just coming over the airport.

A 21-gun salute boomed out over the tarmac as the plane sped in for a smooth landing.

Royal Canadian Navy Guard of Honor

A little girl ran suddenly from the crowd towards the ramp as hundreds waited for the Queen to appear. She was quickly but gently stopped.

A Royal Canadian Navy guard of honor was drawn up as the plane rolled to a stop. The Queen, followed by Prince Philip, stepped through the door of the plane and started down the ramp at exactly 11 a.m. PDT.

She wore a jade and white print dress with pleated skirt and a topcoat of jade green wool. She had on a jade straw hat rimmed with white velvet.

The Queen was saluted by a military band playing God Save the Queen. She inspected the guard and then returned to the dais where the prime minister and governor-general excused themselves to return to Ottawa.

Before entering her car to head for St. John's, Premier Smallwood introduced members of his cabinet and their wives and other dignitaries to the Queen.

Besides the cabinet, the Queen met Speaker J. R. Courage of the Newfoundland Legislature, Opposition Leader Malcolm Hollett, heads of the armed services and their wives.

Newfoundland's representative in the federal cabinet, W. J. Browne, and his wife, were also in the welcoming party.

Philip Stops to Talk With Officials

As Prince Philip passed along the line of dignitaries, he stopped to speak briefly with several. A bouquet was presented to the Queen by a granddaughter of Premier Smallwood.

The navy guard of honor took off their hats and gave the royal couple three cheers. New cheers went up from a group of veterans as the Queen and her husband entered their car. It drove slowly past the crowd at the airport as the drive to St. John's began.

A member of the band drew up on the tarmac, faded shortly before the royal couple left.

Part of the drive to the capital took the Queen along Elizabeth Avenue, a street named after her 1951 visit to Newfoundland. She met civic dignitaries there, on the city limits of St. John's. The early arrival of the Comet had the royal party moving about 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

The Queen smiled warmly as she chatted with Premier Smallwood. The premier said the Queen told him that when she saw all the fog along the coast she realized what a problem the weather created.

"She said, 'I was so happy that when we reached here the sun had broken through,'" the premier told reporters later. Newfoundlanders, residents of Canada's youngest province and the oldest settled region of North America, waited by the hundreds for the arrival.

Heavy Battle Casualties As African Natives Riot

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Massive battles between natives and police raged over a 10-square-mile area of this seaport city today. Latest reports said both sides were exchanging gunfire. Heavy casualties were reported.

At least 1,000 natives were said to be involved.

The riots started this morning when hundreds of African women smashed into a beer hall to demonstrate against municipal-brewed beer.

The demonstrations soon got out of hand in this tinder box area of racial tension between whites and blacks.

Police used tear gas and Sten guns. The natives returned the fire.

By late afternoon, the riot was so far out of hand that running battles were taking place between police and rioters among the shacks of the native slums.

The rioters were burning buses and attacking shops owned by Indians. Other Indian businessmen in various parts of the city closed their stores, barred their windows and began moving out of the danger area.

100 Hurt in Tornado Havoc

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Greater Miami area's first tornado in 10 years struck Wednesday night and at least 100 persons were injured, some of them severely.

"You just don't get that kind of damage from a straight wind," forecaster Paul Moore said in identifying the vicious storm.

The storm leap-frogged over a 12-mile path, driving hundreds of persons from their homes.

An 11-year-old boy, Frank Vasellotti, was reported in critical condition with head injuries but no deaths were reported.

Hardest hit was a four-block residential and business area around the 79th Street causeway where police Sgt. Stewart Cooley estimated the loss would run at least to $1,000,000.

The storm also belted a Biscayne Boulevard area 24 blocks south of 79th Street and toppled trees and power poles in Coconut Grove, 100 blocks south of the causeway. It missed downtown Miami en route.

L. S. Pope, picked up bleeding on the causeway, said he was on the second floor of a five-family dwelling when its roof blew off. His bed was flung into the air.

Don Shoemaker, who lives in the area, said "I've been through two tornadoes and have never seen anything like this. It looked like a bomb had hit."

Mrs. Nola Cone, 40, scrambled out of wreckage of her bar with six patrons, shaken but unhurt.

"I've seen Oklahoma tornadoes but none like this," she said.

City police, sheriff's deputies, a Florida highway patrol detachment and civil defence auxiliaries shunted curiosity-seekers away from the area and guarded against looting from stores and homes where building fronts stood open.

Plans were under way to feed people chased from their homes by the storm. Emergency kitchens were to begin operating today in some areas.

"Everything we had is gone—levelled," said Dr. George Ferro. "My $40,000 house is destroyed. There's a grapefruit tree where our living room was—our pool's been ripped out of the ground."

In a single block of North Bayshore Drive, in the area of greatest destruction, more than a dozen automobiles lay overturned or crumpled. Some had been slammed against buildings.

A 15-foot boat lay upside down in the middle of the street. Neighbors said it was blown off a trailer 1½ blocks away.

TORCH PARADE MARKS EAST GERMAN UPRISING

BERLIN (Reuters) — More than 50,000 West Berliners flocked to a torchlit demonstration in front of their city hall Wednesday night to mark the sixth anniversary of an anti-Communist uprising in Communist East Germany.

The revolt on June 16, 1953, was crushed by Russian troops and tanks.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt told the crowd: "The West and many millions in all parts of the world have shown that they will not leave us alone."

LONDON (Reuters)—One of the two women jurors in the Liberate libel case gave away the verdict three minutes before it was announced officially—by a nod, a wink and a grin.

Taking a leaf from the entertainer's own book of tricks, 49-year-old widow Jean Friend signalled Liberate he had won his case against the London Daily Mirror by winking, smiling and nodding at him as she emerged from a 3½-hour session in the jury room.

Some reporters say Mrs. Friend, widow of a wealthy Australian sheep farmer, tried to see the 40-year-old entertainer at his hotel and again at a stage appearance Wednesday night.

She thinks Liberate is a "darling" and a "smasher," according to quotes in the papers.

Asked about her smiles and nods in court, Mrs. Friend said: "Oh dear, I hope I didn't do anything wrong."

"Poor Liberate looked so terribly tired and I was tremendously thrilled with our verdict. I was bubbling over with it but I didn't realize that I had winked at him."

ALTON, Ill.—A scheduled 4-H club meeting was sabotaged by a cow.

Helen Jones, 14, hostess for the meeting of the farm youth organization, was hurrying to complete her chores before other members arrived. The cow kicked her.

Helen was taken to hospital with an ankle and leg injury. The meeting was cancelled.

HULL, England—University student Gerard O'Donnell Wednesday cracked the United States Senate filibuster record but faded a few hours later in his assault on the world "talkathon" mark.

He gave up after 29 hours of talk, interrupted by an occasional bite at a sandwich or sip of a drink. Sherry, orange juice and water were his liquid stimulants.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) set the U.S. Senate record with a speech of 22 hours, 26 minutes in April, 1953.

O'Donnell set the new mark mostly reading classical poetry. He was red-eyed and ruddy-faced at the end, after standing all the time at his rostrum in a main street of this city in northeastern England.

PARIS—Brigitte Bardot wed her handsome leading man, Jacques Charrier, today after a week of yes-no replies to rumors they were already married.

This time it is official. The shapely French actress and Charrier took their marriage vows before Mayor Fernand Guillaume in the village of Louveciennes.

She wore a clinging light linen dress for the simple civil ceremony in the town hall. It was witnessed by a handful of villagers and friends of the couple.

Photographers, who belatedly heard about the wedding, rushed to the town hall and nearly broke up the ceremony. With the bride in tears, the ceremony was transferred to a smaller room. Doors and windows were locked against the photographers.

City Oil Firm Wins Judgment

Judgment was given for Harknett Fuel in a County Court action this week over an oil furnace.

Suit was started by the company after Mary Bochko, 459 Superior, failed to pay money owing on the furnace, which she claimed was faulty.

Judge J. B. Clearhue found Harknett Fuel had "done everything they were called upon to do under the terms of the warranty" and that "everything they had done had been satisfactory, that the furnace had been installed properly and was as it was guaranteed to be, and that the undertaking under the warranty to give free service for one year had been complied with in all respects."

He gave judgment for Harknett in the amount of $654.07, the amount claimed, with costs. He dismissed Miss Bochko's counter-claim for damages for "physical discomfort because of lack of heat" and breach of warranty.

Charge White Youths In Second Rape Case

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Two white men were charged Wednesday with raping a 21-year-old Negro girl Saturday, prosecuting attorney Lawson E. Gover said. Gover said Ben Sanders, 26, and Bobby Burnett, 21, admitted the attack.

SUB SEARCH RESULTS KEPT SECRET

OTTAWA (CP)—Disclosure of results of Canadian navy and air force investigations of submarine sightings off Canada's coasts would not be in the public interest, Defence Minister Pearkes said today.

He said reports of submarines off Canada arise from time to time and that in almost every case they are investigated.

The minister was replying to Frank Howard, CCF, Skeena, who asked in the Commons about a report that a submarine has been sighted off the British Columbia coast.

Grant for Housing

OTTAWA (CP)—A $75,000 federal housing loan will go towards construction of a 28-unit low-rental housing project for elderly persons in North Vancouver, it was announced today. The loan will be made to the Kiwanis Senior Citizens Homes Limited—the fourth limited-dividend loan to the company—for construction of 28 bachelor units at St. Patrick's Avenue and First Street.

IN PARLIAMENT

Speaker Rules Friday On Land Deal Charges

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Commons Speaker Roland Michener said today he would rule on Opposition leader Lester Pearson's motion for a parliamentary inquiry into a Malton, Ont., land deal at Friday's sitting of the House.

Michener will rule whether the motion, which set off a bitter four-hour debate in the House Wednesday, is within rules covering parliamentary privilege.

Pearson's motion asks that the Commons elections and privileges committee investigate the Malton expropriation deal to see whether the part played in it by Conservative whip John Pallett was "inconsistent" with the standards parliament expects of its members.

If the Speaker rules the motion in order, the House would then have to vote on its acceptance. The government, which has refused the Opposition request for an investigation, is expected to use its overwhelming majority to defeat the motion in this case.

If Michener rules the motion out of order, it would be placed at the bottom of a list of private members' motions on the Commons order paper and probably die there without debate this session.

Government 'Jumped Gun' on House

The unemployment insurance commission has inadvertently sent out some notices of proposed boosts in the insurance rates, even though Parliament has not yet approved the increases.

Labor Minister Starr, replying to Murdo Martin (CCF-Timmins) who raised the matter, said it was not the commission's intention to circumvent Parliament. The notices had to be prepared in anticipation of the bill's passage.

Instructions had been given they were not to be distributed until the legislation was approved, but "unfortunately" some of the notices went out in the mail last week, Mr. Starr said.

A joint Senate-Commons committee studying Indian affairs was told there is an increasing interest among Indians in seeing that their children get an education.

Laval Fortier, deputy minister of citizenship, made the statement after Gordon K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough) asked whether there is still a reluctance among Indians, especially parents, to "mix with the paleface."

In other developments Wednesday:

1. Trade Minister Churchill announced initial prices for grain will be unchanged in the crop year beginning Aug. 1—$1.40 a bushel for No. 1 northern wheat in store at the Lakehead or Vancouver, 60 cents a bushel for No. 2 CW oats in store at the Lakehead.

... ATOMIC PLANT

des Joachim generating station on the Ottawa River.

This plant—a joint project of Crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Ontario Hydro and the Canadian General Electric Company—will cost an estimated $30,000,000 and will produce 20,000 kilowatts of electricity when it goes into operation in 1961. This plant will not produce power on an economic basis but information from it will be invaluable in the design of Candu.

Mr. Churchill said Atomic Energy of Canada will start the final design of Candu immediately to enable early construction. The basic design was completed in May, 1958.

Ontario Hydro, Mr. Churchill said, will help financially in the design of Candu and will provide a site. It also will help in construction of the plant and operate it as a unit of its power distribution system.

"The formula for the purchase price would permit production of power from Candu that is competitive with the cost of power from modern, coal-fired power plants of a similar size," he said.

Mr. Churchill said the basic design of Candu was made by Atomic Energy of Canada's nuclear power plant division in Toronto. He said studies by this division, Chalk River and Canadian General Electric have convinced scientists that "a large-scale natural uranium-heavy water atomic power station offers the best promise of producing economic atomic power in large base load units in a public utility in Canada."

This increased confidence, coupled with a growing need for new power sources and markets for Canadian uranium, resulted in the decision to go ahead with Candu sooner than was planned.

Take Out The 'Liver' Court Orders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that Carter's little liver pills have no effect on the liver and directed Carter Products, Inc., to delete the word liver from the trade name and advertising of the widely-known, 70-year-old product.

The court upheld a Federal Trade Commission order issued Oct. 4, 1956.

The FTC found the "ingredients in Carter's pills, alone or in combination with others, will have no therapeutic action, effect or influence, corrective or otherwise, on the liver."

Stricter Safety Plea Follows Fatal Fall

A coroner's jury urged more rigid enforcement of safety measures in returning a verdict of accidental death in the fatal fall of Howard Elkington, 28, of 438 Dallas, at HMC Dockyard June 2.

Elkington, member of window-cleaning crews working on the new naval ordnance building, died in hospital after falling 41 feet while working atop a metal scaffolding standing on a crane. The scaffolding also fell to the ground. An employee of Williams & Williams, sub-contractors, Elkington suffered brain damage, a broken arm and leg, and died 11 days after the mishap.

Red Strike In Spain Backfires

MADRID (CP)—Spanish Communists failed miserably today in their attempt to stage a 24-hour general strike.

Reports from labor centres throughout Spain showed even fewer persons absent from work than normally. Police headquarters had no indication of any incidents up to noon.

Foreign observers took the Communists' failure to indicate a surprising strength in the non-Communist groups opposed to the regime.

These groups—the Anarchists, Social Democrats, Christian Democrats, Moderate Republicans and Liberal Monarchists—first had planned a protest strike today. But when the Communists climbed on the bandwagon, all the non-Communists ordered their followers to ignore the Communist call.

big event of the trip will be the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by the Queen and President Eisenhower late this month. They will also visit the United States briefly.

The blue and silver Comet IV airliner took off at 1.05 p.m. London time after a quiet ceremony at the airport.

The Queen, wearing a navy blue and white silk dress, matching coat and white hat with navy band, was the first to enter the aircraft, followed by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret, who drove from the royal lodge at Windsor.

Prince Charles said his farewells last Sunday on a day off from school and Princess Anne stayed behind at Buckingham Palace. The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret remained in the air.

FIX

In 1947 and 1952 by the union interfered with the rights of independent fishermen and the companies to carry on their competition in the production, purchase, sale of supply of fish.

MAY BE ILLEGAL

Meanwhile, the Fisheries Association of B.C., spokesman for most fishing companies has told the union bargaining may now be illegal.

The union this week rejected a majority conciliation board report that would have awarded shore workers and tendermen a 4 per cent wage increase spread over two years. The union now is conducting its own strike vote but has not yet applied for a government-supervised vote.

Mr. Stevens said in a statement the companies sparked the investigation. He had told the Fisheries Association the union is preparing for strike action in "defence of the right to bargain."

His statement said there is a mounting national and international campaign against "unprecedented use of the Combines Act" to deprive fishermen of the right to bargain and strike if necessary.

U.S. Engineers Ask Joint Damage Survey

Wait for Canada On Ship Incident

The next step in the "Columbia River incident" involving six Esquimalt-based destroyers awaits a joint survey of damage by Canadian and U.S. authorities.

Damage to dikes and shore installations was caused when units of the Second Canadian escort squadron steamed up the Columbia last week bound for the Portland Rose Festival.

A spokesman for the U.S. Army Engineers, Portland District, told The Times today the engineers "are waiting for the Canadian government to contact us with a view to a joint survey of damage."

Reports from Portland last week said several hundred feet of dike had been washed out by wakes set up by the destroyers.

Threats of lawsuits from farmers along the bank of the river were also reported in Portland papers, but the Army Engineers spokesman said today he had no knowledge of any impending legal action.

The engineers "are responsible for navigable rivers in the United States."

In Victoria, Wednesday, Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, authorized a non-committal statement on the incident.

The official navy statement:

"The Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, has received a report from the commander, 2nd Canadian Escort Squadron, which indicates that all reasonable seamanlike precautions for safe and prudent navigation were taken by the captains of the six Canadian destroyers in their passage up the Columbia River to Portland, Ore."

"Every ship carried a Columbia River pilot, whose instructions and advice were followed throughout the passage."

"No further comment can be made until investigations now being conducted by the United States authorities are concluded."

Lake Ontario Conqueror To Try Strait

A Florida distance swimmer who has a Lake Ontario victory to his credit intends to attempt the Victoria-Port Angeles crossing this summer.

Jim Woods, 43, announced today he would leave his Winter Park, Florida home July 1 for a five-day training period in Ontario before coming to Victoria.

He said he would attempt the swim about mid-July, and hopes to set a new record.

Present record for the north-south swim is 11 hours 33 minutes, held by Cliff Lumsdon. Marilyn Bell made it from Port Angeles to Victoria in 10 hours, 38 minutes.

Mr. Woods made the Lake Ontario swim in 18 hours, 35 minutes, on his seventh attempt.

$6,400 Bid Accepted On Market

Long and involved civic discussions on what to do with the old market building and fire hall appear to have been finally resolved today.

A joint meeting of the city's finance and public works committee decided to have it demolished, accepting the lowest tender received, that of Farmer Construction for $6,400.

This decision must now be ratified by city council.

Decision was based mainly on the city engineer's report that the structure was not up to standard.

A proposal from a city real estate firm on behalf of a client to rent the structure was earlier turned down. It would have been used as a wholesale vegetable market.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell pointed out that the city's long-term thinking called for a new city hall, "so I don't think we should dispose of or lease the property."

Who'll Pay For Debt Bonfire?

Government Won't Bear Cost—Bennett

Cost of the Aug. 1 debt-burning celebrations being planned at Kelowna by Premier Bennett will not be borne by the government, he said today.

He was asked in interview why it would be necessary to transport cancelled B.C. bonds from Victoria to Kelowna in an armored car, and who would pay for the service.

"We wouldn't want to risk loss of the bonds. They will be transferred at no cost to the government—and that applies to the whole celebration," he stated.

FIREWORKS

The Premier did not say who would supply the funds for the ceremonies which will include street dancing, fireworks and a floating bonfire of cancelled bonds, on Okanagan Lake.

The ceremony symbolizes the ridding by the government on its seventh anniversary in office, of all its direct debt, the premier says. But opposition leaders of other political parties argue there is $93,000,000 in direct debt remaining but hidden in the accounts.

They also state that the almost $500,000,000 in contingent liabilities must be recognized as debt as well, and the premier's celebrations are designed to mislead the people.

He said he had never received so many letters of praise since being in office, as he has recently.

"Letters are pouring in saying how ridiculous are the continued criticisms of Mr. Strachan and Mr. Finlayson." He referred to recent speeches by CCF leader Robert Strachan and Conservative leader Deane Finlayson, belittling the government promise that it will be free of direct debt this year.

The premier said Social Credit Party supporters complain to him, "they send letters to the metro press and they don't print them. I charge the newspapers are not printing the letters of greatest support."

Fine Weather For Few Days Forecast Here

Victoria and southern Vancouver Island can expect continued warm sunny weather for at least two more days, Weatherman Bill Mackie forecast this morning.

A persistent storm centre which has hovered around the coast for several weeks is moving west and nothing worse than a little high cloud is forecast for Friday.

The welcome burst of summer, following a prolonged wet spell, is now in its third day with temperatures expected to reach 75 this afternoon.

68 WEDNESDAY

Temperatures rose to a maximum of 68 degrees at Gonzales Weather Observatory on Wednesday and 63 on Tuesday. The previous high was on June 1 when the temperature climbed to 74.

A year ago today the maximum was 82 rising to 87.3 on July 27.

The current warm spell, has boosted strawberry picking, expected to reach its peak next week. Hundreds of pickers, including school children, are on the job and farmers report a good quality crop.

Early maturing hay of good quality apart from some discoloration is now being cut and baled.

The judge found there was not sufficient evidence to name Capt. Patrick Norman Morrison as the driver of the car which crashed at the intersection of Patricia Bay and Trans-Canada highways last Aug. 21.

Capt. William Ogilvie Boyce was killed in the crash. Capt. Morrison and Capt. John Lewis Daniel were severely injured.

Morrison was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. K. Maclean to six months imprisonment after an Assize Court jury in Victoria returned a conviction.

The B.C.-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is still not for sale, Premier Bennett said this morning.

He volunteered the comment following a meeting in his office with Union Pacific Railway vice-president Ambrose J. Sitz.

Asked if sale of the railway was proposed by the American railway executive, the premier said he could not comment.

He said the railway connecting the Peace River with North Vancouver showed a clear profit of $46,000 in April after all operating costs and depreciation allowances were deducted.

VICTORIA'S "wizard of the shooting range," 17-year-old Pat Barclay, 2981 Foul Bay, leaves here tonight at 9.45 on the first leg of his trip to the famed Bisley shoot to be held around mid-July in England. He qualified as one of Canada's top 10 big bore rifle shots at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa last summer, when he had been shooting only two years. He will spend about a month in England.

Two New Judges Approved for B.C. By Senate Group

Provision for two more judges for B.C. Supreme Court is contained in a House of Commons bill approved by the Senate banking committee in Ottawa today.

The bill would raise the number of Supreme Court judges in B.C. to 13.

It also provides for three more Superior Court judges in Quebec and two more in Alberta Supreme Court.

The bill now must return to the Senate for final approval.

When a locomotive hits a car, the car usually disintegrates.

The exception proves the rule.

A CPR locomotive with Oswald Denny, 1032 Oliphant, at the throttle, was in collision with a car while backing up on Store Street Wednesday.

Slight damage only was reported to the rear of the auto, driven by Robert Jolly, 2861 Inlet, which was stopped in the lane of traffic.

Eli H. Plaskett, 55, of Duncan, was fined $25 in city police court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing two jars of jam valued at 80 cents from Garden Produce, 805 Fort, Tuesday evening.

A gold identification bracelet was won by 16-year-old Kaydette Sandy Wilson as the most outstanding student in the junior class of No. 89 (Kinsmen) Squadron Air Cadets, RCAF.

The trophy of accomplishment was presented by the parent 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at a ceremony Wednesday.

University entrance and senior matriculation examination writers have increased this year as students seek to qualify for new government-sponsored scholarships.

Last year, about 14,800 B.C. students took the examinations even though in that and former years many were passed on recommendation.

Examination results are expected about July 26.

Victoria lawyers J. Alan Baker and R. A. B. Wootton, QC, have been returned by acclamation as benchers of the B.C. Law Society for 1959.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Dance Little Ladies ... Victoria teacher Wynne Shaw tells me three of her students—Louise Roberts, Sharon Kirk and Dianne Miller—have been awarded scholarships to the Banff School of Fine Arts this summer.

All have won previous honors. Louise Roberts won the B.C. Dance Festival Trophy and the June Roper and Grace Goddard trophies at the B.C. Dance Festival. She also received the Soroptimist Club of Nanaimo Bursary at the Upper Island Music Festival.

Sharon Kirk, another trophy winner, leaves for Winnipeg next week to rehearse with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet Company for a command performance before the Queen and Prince Philip July 24.

Friends of mine on Menzies were alarmed on receiving a wire from a relative in Vancouver.

"Visit delayed. Busy wrecking store—Auntie."

Visions of Auntie going berserk with an axe haunted this family until finally they put in a long-distance call to Vancouver.

There had been a slight mistake. The wire should have read: "Busy renting store."

At the foot of Ontario Street I noticed a strange faded sign painted on the red brick wall of an old apartment house:

CHEW PAYROLL TOBACCO. Old-timer Bill Hendricks, who lives nearby, tells me "Payroll" has been extinct for nearly half a century. It used to be a popular "chev" in these parts.

In England recently Mrs. Jack Watson of 137 Wellington Avenue visited Ann Hathaway's famous cottage at Shottery near Stratford-on-Avon.

She has now compared the original with the replica of Ann's cottage built by Sam Lane on Lampson Street, Esquimalt.

"It is remarkably accurate," Mrs. Watson said. "They are identical in size and appearance."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Premier Bennett was to leave this afternoon for Vancouver but he would not disclose the reason for his visit.

He said he would not go to Kelowna as has been speculated, to defend his debt policies at a CCF-Liberal-Conservative round table meeting tonight.

A motorcycleist involved in a collision in the 4200 block Shelbourne at noon today was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a broken leg.

Police were not able to identify the rider immediately.

A quick beer eventually cost an Oak Bay man $50 and $5 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP Court Wednesday to consuming liquor in a public place.

Roderick Blanchard, 2853 Thompson, said he was at a party at Langford Community Hall, went to a car in the parking lot to get a fresh case of beer and started drinking a bottle on the spot before others in the party started on the case.

The B.C. government practice of holding cabinet meetings in various parts of B.C. will be continued following the visit of the Queen to British Columbia next month," Premier Bennett said today.

He said it is intended to hold meetings at Kitimat and Prince George and four other mainland centres, with a further meeting scheduled at either Campbell River or Courtenay on Vancouver Island, August 18.

Four-year-old Robert Eickens, 1331 Pandora, was treated and discharged from Jubilee Hospital after he was cut on the right wrist by a broken window pane at home Wednesday.

Degree of Bachelor of Administration was conferred on Victoria student Robert Dennis Richardson by the University of Oregon at annual commencement exercises Sunday.

Son of Mrs. Lillian Richardson, 2528 Rose Street, he was among over 1,500 students receiving degrees from the college of liberal arts, graduate school, and the professional schools.

The Cymrodorion-Welsh Society will hold its monthly meeting in the Professional and Business Women's Hall, 902 Government, on Friday at 8 p.m. Final arrangements will be made for the picnic in July.

Annual meeting of the Victoria Symphony Society will be held at Spencer house, 1951 Cook Street, next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

By PENNY SAVER

Is one of your fondest dreams a home dryer? I know a way you can have one for $7.95. All you have to do is set this small model fan I've found behind a radiator. Put up rack with damp clothes, and turn on the fan. Swoosh! All those clothes will be fluffy dry in no time at all. What's more, they'll be soft and fresh because they've had warm breezes blowing through them.

It leads a double life, this fan. If you're a working gal, chances are you are in a corner of a building that doesn't get much of the balmy, cool air, once summer heat sets in. Set this pretty, little fan on a corner of the desk. Air will be circulating in seconds. And you will be working at top efficiency, comfortably once again.

Pocket sized (stands just 10 inches high), it's compactly powerful. Blades are completely safe. No worry of tiny fingers getting caught. Plastic material is used for blades—they bend if they encounter any resistance whatsoever. Price of the tiny wonder is $7.95.

Don't let the little ones out in summer sun without adequate protection for their delicate heads. They need covering during summer even when it's cloudy.

I've found darling little straw hats made just for your sun babies. For the girls—little lightweight, straws in bonnet shape. In every color, crown is trimmed with dainty brocade ribbon, that ties under the chin (to keep that hat on, securely). For boys, coolie styles, with lively circle stripes of bright colors. Again, these are made to stay on. Children's straws cost 60 cents.

A game the whole family can enjoy together is lawn croquet. It's perfect for a lazy Sunday afternoon. And it gets everyone outdoors, too.

Four mallets, colored balls, stakes and wickets, all come in a special wooden stand. It's easy and fun to set up. Just a small amount of level lawn will make your "field."

Set costs $1.98, means hours of summer fun for all.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Anniversary doesn't exist: My sister and I were married in a double wedding in 1909. Her husband died six months ago and the 50th anniversary date will be in three weeks. I am at a loss to know whether this should be considered my sister's golden anniversary and if I should send a personal gift to her. Or should I omit the gift and send her a note?

Louise Davis answers: You would be wise not to send a gift to your sister. Anything you might do would be a sad reminder at a time when her spirits need lifting. Actually her 50th wedding anniversary doesn't exist and it would be a fallacy to play "pretend." Because you and your sister were married at a double wedding, you probably would feel compelled to do something rather than let the day go by. In that case, I suppose a note would be in order, but, no matter what you say, it can't very well raise her morale. If you do send a note which won't be easy to write, arrange that your sister receive it before the anniversary day. I presume your sister lives in another city; in which case I suggest a long-distance call to her, and, if you do, it wouldn't be a good idea to dwell on the anniversary or the death. Just remember that emotionally she will be at a low ebb. Give of your strength to pull her up. By evading the subject of your wedding or the anniversary, your sister would instinctively know why you are calling.

DEAR ABBY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: On October 10, 1958 I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. I know this girl got the gift because her mother said she did. But as yet I haven't received a thank-you note from the girl.

Her mother said a bride has a year in which to acknowledge her wedding gifts. Is that a fact? This girl had plenty of time before the wedding to sit down and send out over 300 wedding invitations to people all over the country (she didn't know half of them) but she can't find time to thank them for the gifts. What is my next move? MRS. L. DEAR MRS. L.: The next move is hers, not yours. The well-bred bride acknowledges her wedding gifts within thirty days after she returns from her honeymoon trip.

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to send for your pamphlet on "HOW TO GET BOYS TO NOTICE ME" but my father says too many boys notice me as it is. I am 10 years old but sometimes I pass for 12. Dear Abby, can you help me with my problem? I would like to have boys notice me.

NOT NOTICED DEAR NOT: Girls your age have a lot of time in which to be noticed. Be your sweet 10-year-old self, and let nature take its course.

DEAR ABBY: If those immature parents who squabble over who should meet their son when he comes back from overseas had a real worry, they wouldn't have time to think about such a trivial thing. The important thing is that the boy is coming home. I have two sons overseas. White crosses top the places where they sleep.

Sincerely yours,
HATTIE HAMILTON

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment for seven years and we have watched a little golden-haired girl grow up. She is now 18 but is childish in many ways although she is as developed physically as I am.

I work odd hours at the hospital around the corner. Many times I will come home and find this neighbor girl sleeping on our day-bed. She says she is afraid to sleep alone.

My husband is young, good-looking and only human. While I trust him and realize this girl is sweet but simple-minded, how long should I put up with this? I tell my husband it doesn't look right but he kicks me out of it. Please advise me. UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Doesn't this "sweet but simple-minded 18-year-old child" have parents? Tell her in words of one syllable that your husband is not a baby-sitter for 18-year-olds and be sure your husband understands that YOU are NOT kidding!

"Why don't my parents trust me?" For What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know, send 25 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Voting
Heavy
In Alberta

EDMONTON—Unexpectedly heavy voting was reported from urban centres today as Albertans went to the polls to elect 65 out of 216 candidates for the provincial legislature.

The campaign was quiet and there were no major issues brought out, but perfect weather prevailed and Medicine Hat returning officers said 100 voters showed up in the first half-hour.

Edmonton officials reported a "steady flow" to the polling booths there.

Polls were opened at 8 a.m. and were to close at 8 p.m., Pacific Daylight time.

In power since 1935 the Social Credit government was trying for its seventh consecutive five-year mandate.

NEW YORK (AP)—The chairman of the mayor's committee for baseball today said the formation of a third major league will be announced between July 1 and July 15.

William Shea, who heads the committee to bring another major league club to New York, said the league hopes to start operating in 1961.

Shea announced for the first time the identity of the chief backers of the proposed New York member of the third league. He said there are three groups involved, headed by Mrs. Charles S. Payson, of Manhattan, N.Y.; Mrs. Dorothy Killam, of Montreal; and Dwight F. Davis, of Southampton, N.Y. Davis is the son of the donor of the international tennis trophy.

Shea wouldn't name the other member cities of the third league. He said the backers of the clubs in these cities will identify themselves in the next few days.

Other cities reported in line for franchises in the new circuit include Toronto, Montreal, Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston, Texas; Minneapolis-St. Paul and Denver.

GENEVA (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter summoned his plane from the United States today in a subtle warning against new delaying tactics in the current Big Four talks by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Gromyko apparently was stalling until Premier Nikita Khrushchev can use new Berlin strategy after nearly two weeks of "little summit" talks with leaders of the Communist East German puppet regime.

For the second day running, Gromyko put off his answer to the West's three-day-old compromise plan for Berlin. He asked for and was granted another 24-hour delay in the Big Four secret meeting scheduled for today.

UNIONS, FIRMS ACCUSED

'Fix' Charged
In Fish Prices

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 5,000-member United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (Ind.) and four British Columbia fish packing companies have been accused of price-fixing in a report of a combines investigator.

A copy of the report of T. D. MacDonald, director of investigations under the Federal Combines Act, also names the Native Brotherhood of B.C., which represents most Indian fishermen and the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association of B.C.

The report was released to the companies, Anglo-British Columbia Packing Company Ltd., B.C. Packers Ltd., the Canadian Fishing Company, and Nelson Brothers Fisheries Ltd., and the union and associations recently.

Mr. MacDonald's report says the four companies and the unions and associations acted against the public interest in price fixing activities.

It says tie-ups and strikes mission will recommend to the minister of justice whether charges should be laid under the Combines Act.

A Royal Canadian Navy guard of honor was drawn up as the plane rolled to a stop.

The Queen, followed by Prince Philip, stepped through the door of the plane and started down the ramp at exactly 11 a.m. PDT.

She wore a jade and white print dress with pleated skirt and a topcoat of jade green wool. She had on a jade straw hat rimmed with white velvet.

The Queen was saluted by a military band playing "God Save the Queen." She inspected the guard and then returned to the dais where the prime minister and governor-general

Atlantic Flight
Right on Time

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The plane carrying the Queen and Prince Philip to Canada landed at Torbay Airport here at 2.50 p.m. ADT (10.50 a.m. PDT), just five hours and 45 minutes after leaving London.

A bright warm sun shone on the city as the royal plane arrived over the airport. But from the airport tower wreaths of fog could be seen hanging menacingly over the rocky Newfoundland coast a few miles away.

Until a few hours earlier the fog threatened to keep the big Comet jet airliner from landing here. For a while, a diversion to Argentina, 90 miles away, appeared likely.

Governor-General Massey and Prime Minister Diefenbaker were on hand to greet the royal couple. The prime minister's plane arrived while the royal aircraft was just coming over the airport.

A 21-gun salute boomed out over the tarmac as the plane sped in for a smooth landing.

As the first gun was fired, the royal standard was broken out on a flag pole at the airport.

Only seconds elapsed between the time the Comet's engines were cut and the door to the royal plane was opened. A ramp was quickly rolled into position for the Queen and Prince Philip to descend.

Besides the cabinet, the Queen met Speaker J. R. Courage of the Newfoundland Legislature, Opposition Leader Malcolm Hallett, heads of the armed services and their wives.

Newfoundland's representative in the federal cabinet, W. J. Browne, and his wife, were also in the welcoming party.

As Prince Philip passed along the line of dignitaries, he stopped to speak briefly with several. A bouquet was excused themselves to return to Ottawa.

Heavy Battle Casualties
As African Natives Riot

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Massive battles between natives and police raged over a 10-square-mile area of this seaport city today. Latest reports said both sides were exchanging gunfire. Heavy casualties were reported.

At least 1,000 natives were said to be involved.

The riots started this morning when hundreds of African women smashed into a beer hall to demonstrate against municipal-brewed beer.

The demonstrations soon got out of hand in this tinder box area of racial tension between whites and blacks.

Speaker Rules Friday On Land Deal Charges

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Commons Speaker Roland Michener said today he would rule on Opposition leader Lester Pearson's motion for a parliamentary inquiry into a Malton, Ont., land deal at Friday's sitting of the House.

Michener will rule whether the motion, which sets off a bitter four-hour debate in the House Wednesday, is within rules covering parliamentary privilege.

Pearson's motion asks that the Commons elections and privileges committee investigate the Malton expropriation deal to see whether the part played in it by Conservative whip John Pallett was "inconsistent" with the standards parliament expects of its members.

If the Speaker rules the motion in order, the House would then have to vote on its acceptance. The government, which has refused the Opposition request for an investigation, is expected to use its overwhelming majority to defeat the motion in this case.

If Michener rules the motion out of order, it would be placed at the bottom of a list of private members' motions on the Commons order paper and probably die there without debate this session.

Wednesday's debate brought accusations of McCarthyism, "smear and witch hunt tactics" and lack of fortitude against the Opposition. Liberals in turn directed charges of "slurring" members of parliament, lack of responsibility and intimidation at the government.

In all, it was the stormiest debate of the session.

Pearson's motion was based on a recent Evchequer Court judgment which stated Pallett, MP for Peel, had an independent appraiser appointed to evaluate land in his riding, instructed him to set as generous valuations as possible and attempted to bind the transport department to these figures before they were submitted.

It was assumed Michener postponed his ruling until Friday so that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker might be present. The Prime Minister left for Newfoundland this morning to greet Queen Elizabeth.

... ATOMIC PLANT

des Joachims generating station on the Ottawa River.

This plant — a joint project of Crown-owned Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Ontario Hydro and the Canadian General Electric Company — will cost an estimated $30,000,000 and will produce 20,000 kilowatts of electricity when it goes into operation in 1961.

This plant will not produce power on an economic basis but information from it will be invaluable in the design of Candu.

Mr. Churchill said Atomic Energy of Canada will start the final design of Candu immediately to enable early construction. The basic design was completed in May, 1958.

Ontario Hydro, Mr. Churchill said, will help financially in the design of Candu and will provide a site. It also will help in construction of the plant and operate it as a unit of its power distribution system.

"The formula for the purchase price would permit production of power from Candu that is competitive with the cost of power from modern, coal-fired power plants of a similar size," he said.

Mr. Churchill said the basic design of Candu was made by Atomic Energy of Canada's nuclear power plant division in Toronto. He said studies by this division, Chalk River and Canadian General Electric have convinced scientists that a large-scale natural uranium-heavy water atomic power station offers the best promise of producing economic atomic power in large base load units in a public utility in Canada.

This increased confidence, coupled with a growing need for new power sources and markets for Canadian uranium, resulted in the decision to go ahead with Candu sooner than was planned.

... QUEEN ARRIVES IN CANADA

presented to the Queen by a granddaughter of Premier Smallwood.

The navy guard of honor took off their hats and gave the royal couple three cheers. New cheers went up from a group of veterans as the Queen and her husband entered their car. It drove slowly past the crowd at the airport as the drive to St. John's began.

A member of the band drawn up on the tarmac faintly shortly before the Royal couple left.

Part of the drive to the capital took the Queen along Elizabeth Avenue, a street named after her 1951 visit to Newfoundland. She met civic dignitaries there, on the city limits of St. John's. The early arrival of the Comet had the royal party moving about 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

The Queen smiled warmly as she chatted with Premier Smallwood. The premier said the Queen told him that when she saw all the fog along the coast she realized what a problem the weather created.

"She said, 'I was so happy that when we reached here the sun had broken through,'" the premier told reporters later.

Newfoundlanders, residents of Canada's youngest province and the oldest settled region of North America, waited by the hundreds for the arrival.

The royal couple will rest tonight before embarking on the six-week tour of Canada that will be the longest any British monarch has undertaken in a single country. The big event of the trip will be the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by the Queen and President Eisenhower late this month. They will also visit the United States briefly.

A benign sun filtered through thick cloud as the royal couple left London airport.

The blue and silver Comet IV airliner took off at 1.05 p.m. London time after a quiet ceremony at the airport.

The Queen, wearing a navy blue and white silk dress, matching coat and white hat with navy band, was the first to enter the aircraft, followed by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret, who drove from the royal lodge at Windsor.

Prince Charles said his farewells last Sunday on a day off from school and Princess Anne stayed behind at Buckingham Palace. The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret remained in the aircraft two or three minutes before leaving. Then the Queen and the prince came to the door of the aircraft and waved goodbye two or three times.

Earlier, Prince Philip had spent almost a full minute chatting on the tarmac with George Drew, Canada's high commissioner to the United Kingdom.

Also in the party seeing the royal couple off on the Queen's first cross-Canada tour as sovereign were Prime Minister Macmillan, the Earl of Home, Commonwealth relations secretary, Home Secretary R. A. Butler and other government officials.

Conversation at the airport was dominated by reports on the weather in Newfoundland.

interfered with the rights of independent fishermen and the companies to carry on their competition in the production, purchase, sale of supply of fish.

Meanwhile, the Fisheries Association of B.C., spokesman for most fishing companies has told the union bargaining may now be illegal.

The union this week rejected a majority conciliation board report that would have awarded shore workers and tenders a 4 per cent wage increase spread over two years. The union now is conducting its own strike vote but has not yet applied for a government-supervised vote.

Mr. Stevens said in a statement the companies sparked the investigation. He had told the Fisheries Association the union is preparing for strike action in "defence of the right to bargain and strike if necessary."

His statement said there is a mounting national and international campaign against "unprecedented use of the Combines Act" to deprive fishermen of the right to bargain and strike if necessary.
